THE RETURN CELEBRATION.

Our citizens should be on hand this afternoon at half-past three o'clock, at the depot of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, to receive our guests from Wisconsin. They will arrive by a special train at that hour. Several hundred, perhaps a thousand and more, will come, and we trust they will receive a right cordial welcome. It is alike important to Chicago socially and commercially that she should show every attention to her guests from the Badger State.

Let every member of the

appointed at the meeting at the Briggs House, on Monday evening, Oct. 24, and as many more as possible, be promptly at the depot and join the procession. The following are the names of the committee.

GUESTS.
CARRIAGES.

And will march on Canal street to Lake street, on Lake to Wells, on Wells to the Briggs House, where the excursionists will be welcomed to our city and our homes by his Honor Mayor Haines, and other distinguished citizens. After which they will repair to the hotels of their choice.

The committee can be found at their rooms at the Briggs House. At half-past seven o'clock P. M. McVicker's theatre will open, and all our guests are invited to attend free of charge, on presentation of their invitation card.

We trust our citizens generally will vie with each other in showing attention to our guests. Let this evening and to-morrow be given up to the duties of generous hospitality, and let our citizens do the agreeable in a manner worthy of Chicago.

COOK COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The Cook County Republican Convention, called for the nomination of county and town officers, meets at 2 o'clock p. m., to-day, in the Supervisors' room in the Court House. The Evening Journal seems to be in the secret of an Irish movement at the primary elections on Saturday evening, with which it appears to be throwing discredit in advance on the nominations to be made to-day. This unseemly purpose may be explained by the fact that a near relative of the editor of the Journal was an unsuccessful contestant at those meetings for the office of County Treasurer. If we are correctly informed the Irish voting at the primaries was not altogether, nor chiefly, enlisted on the side of the delegate tickets which were elected. Though the number of Democratic votes cast at the meetings on Saturday evening was very small as compared with similar occasions heretofore, we agree it is time to have that sort of thing definitely stopped, and we call on the Convention to-day to adopt a plan to confine the Patricks and Michaels to their own party caucuses.

WINTER DAVIS SUSTAINED.

Great Opposition Meeting in Baltimore.

THE SADDLE PUT ON THE RIGHT HORSE.

The Opposition party held a monster mass meeting in Baltimore on last Friday night. The numbers present were estimated at 15,000. The procession was three miles long. The enthusiasm was at blood heat. The vast concourse was addressed by Senator Kennedy and Hon. Henry Winter Davis. The former made a speech pretty well up to the old Whig standard in the days of Clay. He charged the Democratic party with having re-opened the Slavery question, which was settled by the compromises of 1850, and consequently the fillibustering at Harper's Ferry was one of the effects of that agitation which they caused. Winter Davis followed him and gave his views of the origin of Harper's Ferry outbreak. He attributed it entirely to the Democratic party—the party, he said, that had involved Kansas in all her troubles; that had invaded that territory, and committed bloodshed and murder; that had repealed the Missouri Compromise; and that had attempted to fasten upon Kansas the Lecompton fraud. The Democracy had not only committed all these depredations, but a Democratic President had sent the army into the Territory to perfect the outrage. It was these acts on the part of the South, and Southern aggression upon the North, that had led to the Harper's Ferry disturbance, which was at the worst only the act of a crazy old fool.

Such must be the view of most candid minds; for if there had been no Slaveholder's forays upon Freemen in Kansas—no murders of Brown's and other men's children—no housebreaking, ballot-box stuffing, and other outrages—there would have been no "Ossawatomie Brown" to concoct and lead on plots like the one at Harper's Ferry.

The remarks of Davis were loudly applauded. The hearty shouts of the vast crowd showed that the people of Baltimore responded to his views. He uttered no unkind word against the Republicans, and made no attempt to connect them with the Harper's Ferry outbreak. The election in Maryland takes place to-morrow. The pro-slavery party fondly hoped that they would make enough capital out of old Brown to defeat the gallant Davis, but they will miserably fail. He will be triumphantly elected, or we are greatly mistaken in the temper and intelligence of the Baltimoreans.

"Who is the Man?"

Under this caption the Chicago Times parrots, for the tenth or twentieth time, its call for the name of the writer of a certain communication in the PRESS AND TRIBUNE. Will not the Times preface its next call with the name of the person who induced that sheet to perpetuate editorially a shameful libel on a young lady at Galesburg? Who is the father of the Galesburg mulatto that never was born? That is an inquiry which has been put a great many times, with no certain result. Until the question of paternity in the Galesburg case is settled, as between the editor of the Times and his phantom informant, it will not be worth our while to go into explanations in the other matter.

MORE MOBBING AT NEWPORT, KY.

Complete Demolition of the "Free South" Press and Printing Apparatus.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial, yesterday.]

At an early hour on Saturday last, an informal meeting was held at the office of Col. T. L. Jones, for the purpose of considering by what means the further publication of the Free South should be prevented. It was decided that a meeting should be held at the Court House, at 3 o'clock, P. M., to take further action in the matter, and a hand bill, calling a meeting was circulated, and posted upon the street corners.

At the hour and place indicated, a number of citizens assembled, when Major Hallam was called to the Chair, and C. W. Kavanaugh acted as Secretary.

A preamble and resolutions were then read by Col. Jones, denouncing the "Free South" as inimical to the true interests of Newport, and incendiary in its character and influence; but strongly advising non-action, at least for the present.

Mr. Anderson then arose and urged the propriety of the position of Col. J., when J. A. Piner moved that that portion of the resolution advising moderation be stricken out, and that the meeting at once repair to the office of the Free South and remove the printing apparatus to the Cincinnati side of the river. This proposition was unanimously approved, when the meeting adjourned, and proceeded in a body to the office of the Free South, on Taylor street.

Mr. Bailey appeared at a window in the second story, apparently aware of the object and intention of the crowd below.

Maj. Hallam approached within speaking distance, and stated to Mr. Bailey that no harm was intended or would be done to him or his family, and requested him to open his door. This Mr. Bailey refused to do, and begged the crowd to reconsider its intention, offering, at the same time, to admit to the columns of his paper any objections any citizen had to any article published therein.

A number of persons then seized a ladder lying upon the pavement and attempted to place it against a window in the second story, but a painter who was at work there appeared at the window and threatened to hurl a hatchet at the first who would attempt to ascend. A young man named Barry Taylor immediately produced a revolver, but it was wrested from his grasp by one of the bystanders. A heavy plank was then procured by the assailants, and used as a battering ram against the door, which burst open by one ponderous blow. Upon attempting to enter the premises, however, Miss Eleanor, daughter of Mr. Bailey, appeared at a third-story window, armed with a brick-bat, and threatened to throw it at whoever approached. Now commenced a ridiculous scene between the assailants and Miss Eleanor, who showed her determination to execute her threat; they withdrew to a safe distance from the range of her missiles, while she stood firm and ready to hurl it at them. One man, more brave than the others, made a race for the door, but barely escaped the inevitable brick-bat; others followed, and by feints and dodges succeeded in keeping their heads whole, and followed the predecessor into the building. Foremost in the movement were J. A. Piner, Oliver and Albert Root, Charles Stricker, Doc. Anzi, Dr. J. Q. A. Foster, Isaac Spencer, John, James and Barry Taylor, Geo. Kendle, T. D. Edwards, Orville Winston, James Wadle, A. S. Berry, John Fowler, C. W. Kavanaugh, Major Hallam, Charles Air and James Perry.

Soon after the crowd gained entrance to the office, they proceeded to take the press to pieces, and carry the cases of type into the street, but a number of half-grown boys commenced an indiscriminate destruction of every article they could find. Type were scattered, cases and furniture thrown from the windows upon the sidewalk, and portions of the press, by this time detached, were hurled down the stairs and broken. A wagon was loaded with the fragments of the press and other articles belonging to the composing-room, and conveyed to Dodsworth's coal-yard, on the corner of Front and Lawrence street. Another load was deposited on the ferry wharf-boat, and it was said that a third load of the ruined property was thrown into the river.

Maj. Hallam stated on the street that it was the intention of the party to place the property in the care of Strait, Deming & Co., commission merchants of Cincinnati, subject to the order of Mr. Bailey but it was not done.

Mr. Bailey stated that at the time of the assault upon the office, he handed a pocket-book, containing $150, to Mrs Bailey for safe keeping, and that she in the alarm, laid it down upon a stand in the composing room, and saw it no more.

A number of the friends of Mr. Bailey assisted him on Saturday and last night to keep watch over the dismantled office, upon which, however, no further attempt was made.

THE CITY.

☞ Scholars and friends are invited to attend the party to-night at G. Mirasole's, corner Clark and Madison streets.

☞ We are under obligations to H. D. Colvin, Esq., of the U. S. Express Co., for late San Francisco papers.

☞ Elegant and extensive assortments of furniture, carpets, pianos, etc., at auction at the salesroom of Gilbert & Sampson, No. 82 Lake street, this morning at 10 o'clock.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—An ugly hackman, who drives hack 71, was fined $25 yesterday by Justice Akin, for purposely running into another hack and damaging it considerably. The Mayor should revoke his license.

PERSONAL.—We regret to hear that Dr. Maxwell, one of our oldest and most respected citizens, is lying dangerously ill at his residence in Geneva, Wis. Dr. Eldridge was called from here to visit him on Saturday morning.

☞ "One who knows" ought to know that we publish no communications which are not accompanied by a responsible name, especially when they pretend to controvert statements which we have previously published, and which we have good authority for believing to be true.

SHOULD BE PUNISHED.—An intoxicated man was put off the cars of the State street railway on Saturday, for being noisy and quarrelsome. When put off he seized a stone, and hurled it through one of the windows of the car, endangering the lives of the passengers. He was arrested and fined $25.

CANDIDATES FOR SUPERVISORS.—The following gentlemen were nominated as candidates for Supervisors, by the Republican caucusses held on Saturday evening last.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1st Ward—Peter Page. | | 6th Ward—Reuben Cleveland. |
| 2d " | Isaac Speer. | 7th " | Carl Elsler. |
| 3d " | Geo. A Flagg. | 9th " | A. H. Burley. |
| 4th " | O. H. Salisbury. | | |

A BRUTAL HUSBAND AND A FAITHLESS WIFE.—Henry Simmons, a sailor, was brought before Justice Akin on Monday morning and fined $5 for beating his wife. He gave as an excuse for his brutality, that while he was absent from home she was intimate with other men.

RECOVERED DAMAGES.—In the Superior Court on Saturday, R. D. Hughes recovered $350 damages from Charles Affeld, a city constable, for false imprisonment. Affeld arrested Hughes at his place of business, about the first of April supposing him to be another man, upon a capias ad satisfaciendum against Wm. Buck.

LITERARY.—The Pic Nic Papers, a volume of tales and sketches by Dickens, Maxwell, Miss Strickland and others has been received by McNally & Co., 81 Dearborn street. They have also a new volume by Charles Reade, and one by the author of Timothy Titcomb's letters, which had such a run last winter.

FURNITURE AT AUCTION.—Butters & Co. will will sell a fine stock of Fur Goods for ladies, misses and gentlemen's wear this morning at their Auction Room, No. 76 Dearborn street. We believe it is a well known fact that Butters always sells what he puts up; this is to the advantage of the buyer. Those desiring to make their purchases of furs now, should by all means attend the sale.

SECOND GIFT CONCERT.—Capt. Scott's second gift concert takes place at Metropolitan Hall, on Wednesday evening Nov. 9th. He will be assisted by the best musical talent of the city, including the Light Guard Band. The gifts include a splendid piano, several gold watches, &c. The entire success of the first concert has rendered its repetition necessary to satisfy the wishes of the public. We understand the tickets are going off briskly.

MISSISSIPPI AND MISSOURI R. R.—This road, (which is virtually but an extension of the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad) has been running for some time to Iowa City, fifty miles west of Davenport, and with the Muscatine and Washington branch, has one hundred and seven miles in operation. Having raised sufficient money by the hypothecation of their bonds, this Company have purchased iron for thirty miles of additional track beyond Iowa City, and it is already under contract, to be completed by the first of December.

ARREST FOR FALSE IMPRISONMENT.—John Leonard and Daniel Pridham, clerks on board the steamer Traveler, running between this port and Milwaukee, were arrested yesterday and brought before Justice Miliken on a charge preferred by John Wood against the prisoners for false imprisonment. It appeared from the evidence of Wood, and it was admitted by Leonard and Pridham, that some time in the early part of October the complainant came from Milwaukee to this city on board the steamer Traveler without paying his fare, he claiming that the Company which owned the steamer were indebted to him for services, which he could not collect. He also stated, and the clerks admitted, that he was not called upon for fare. After his arrival here, and during the latter part of the same day, he was met by one of the prisoners at or near the Rush street bridge, who invited him to come on board of the steamer Traveler, and he complied. When on board of the steamer, he was seized by the clerks and with other assistance, thrust into the baggage room, and locked in against his earnest protestations. He was kept there until the steamer had sailed, and when out in the lake the prisoners let him out and compelled him to go into the boiler room and pass wood, which he continued to do until the steamer reached Kenosha. Here he managed to jump on to the wharf just as the steamer was putting off, and thus escaped. He came to this city and yesterday had Leonard and Pridham arrested. They were held to bail in $500 each to appear before the Recorder to answer.

CHICAGO COLLEGE OF PHARMACY.—In our advertising columns will be found the announcement of the "First Annual Course of Lectures of the Chicago College of Pharmacy." This is an institution which has recently been organized in this city, for the purpose of improving and educating druggists. It is with pleasure that we notice this educational institution, as in our opinion it is on of the most important that we have, and is the only one of the kind, out of the large cities on the Atlantic seaboard. The business of the druggist is not alone one of buying and selling, but of great responsibility, and requires a degree of skill and knowledge seldom attained, unless through the instrumentality of institutions of this character. We learn that a commendable interest is taken in the school by our druggists, and that its prospects are quite flattering. The "Academy of Medical Sciences" has evinced its interest and approval by commendatory resolutions. We also notice that persons are permitted to attend the lectures who are not students of Pharmacy. Prof. Blaney, the lecturer on Chemistry, is well known in this city as a successful teacher, and is undoubtedly one of the first Chemists in this country.

☞ The success which has resulted from the labors of those engaged in the Foster Mission Sabbath School, situated on Jefferson street, south of Polk, demands the enlargement of their building to accommodate the constantly increasing numbers in attendance from Sabbath to Sabbath. To raise the necessary funds for this most worthy Christian object, a festival will be held, at Metropolitan Hall, on Tuesday evening, November 8th. From the interest manifested by the officers and teachers of this Mission School, and its many friends, who are willing to aid them in so noble a work, a very pleasant entertainment may be expected.

POLICE.—The following cases were disposed of by Justice Aiken on Monday morning: Thos. Roach, John Powers, William Smith, Phillip O'Doherty, all plain drunks, $3 each. Elizabeth Canfield, Minerva Jane Eddings and Felix Dixon, the latter colored, were fined $25 each for being inmates of a "dive." John and Michael Shipps, drunk and assaulting the officer, $10 each. John Coyle, drunk in a saloon known as the "Old House at Home," $10. Robert McCuen and Henry Magdaline, a butcher, for fighting, $5 each. John Brown and Charles Brown, same offence, $5 each.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.—A well known resident of this city named Jonas C. Clark, was arrested last week, by officer Asa Williams, at St. Clair, Mo., upon a requisition from Gov. Bissell, charged with forging the names of Tracy & Thomas to a check for $400, and paying the same to G. W. Stevens & Co., of Lake street, for jewelry. Clark is in jail awaiting examination.

RUSH MEDICAL COLLEGE LECTURES.—The introductory to the regular course of Lectures in Rush Medical College, will be delivered in the College building, corner of Dearborn and Indiana streets, by Prof. I. Adams Allen on this evening, Nov. 1, at 7½ o'clock. The Profession and the public, ladies and gentlemen, are respectfully invited to be present.

☞ James Stinson, wishes the Journal to state that his arrest by one of the detectives was prompted by a personal spite against him on the part of the officer. He does not say that the Magistrate required $1,000 bail from him out of spite, after a hearing of the case.

DEAD.—Mrs. Brosnahan, who cut her throat on Friday morning last, while laboring under delirium tremens, died at the City Hospital yesterday morning.

Harriet E. Harmon, Assistant in the Primary Department of the Jones School, in place of Louisa D. Whittlesey, resigned.

Mr. Moseley, Chairman of the Special Committee on School Property, presented the following Report and Resolutions, which were adopted by the Board and ordered to be printed:

The committee appointed "To investigate the condition of the school fund and school property, and the laws applicable to and governing the same, and to report to this Board such recommendations as to them may seem advisable upon the subject," respectfully submit the following report:

|---|---|
| The School Fund proper consists of real estate in the City of Chicago, estimated last year at | $900,000 00 |
| Real Estate out of the City, do | 25,000 00 |
| Money Loaned, principal, about | 52,000 00 |
| | $977,000 00 |
| To this should be added, money due from the City for Wharfing Privileges | 15,221 97 |
| Total amount for School Fund proper | $992,221 97 |
| Three Special Funds of $1,000 each for Books and Medals | 3,000 00 |

It is expected that additions will from time to time be made to the school fund by payments of principal of the Wharfing Privileges. There is more than $150,000 remaining unpaid, all of which, as soon as paid, becomes a part of the school fund.

A few words respecting the history of the "Wharfing Privileges" may not be out of place. In or about the year 1847, after many efforts between the city and the claimants of the Wharfing Privileges, the Common Council, in compliance with an act of the State Legislature, made a final settlement with the owners or claimants of the wharfing lots, by the terms of which each owner was to pay the city a stipulated amount for his lot, with interest at six per cent., payable quarter yearly, until the principal was paid. The principal was payable at the option of the owners, provided the above terms were complied with.

The following extract from the contract, between the city and the claimants, will show the interest then manifested in the public schools, and the care that was taken to enlarge the school fund:

"It is hereby stipulated, and made a part of the contract between the parties hereto, that the principal of the moneys which shall be paid or secured to the City of Chicago, upon the adjustment or settlement of the title to the Wharfing Privileges or Public Landings, including the moneys secured by this indenture, shall be denominated the Wharfing Lot Fund; and shall be appropriated by the said city as follows: The first thirty thousand dollars of said principal which shall be paid, shall be appropriated by the said city in discharge of its obligations, or in such other manner as the Common Council shall from time to time direct. The residue of said principal, as the same shall be paid, shall be paid over to the Agent of the School Fund of said City of Chicago, or his successor, by whatever name he may be known, and shall constitute a part of the principal of the School Fund of the City of Chicago, for the support of schools in said city, and shall be loaned in the same manner as the principal of other School Funds may be loaned.

"There shall be paid into the City Treasury semi-annually, for the general uses of said city, six per cent. interest upon such portion of said Wharfing Lot Fund as shall be paid unto said School Agent, or his successor as afore aid, out of the interest which shall accrue for the loan of said principal as aforesaid, until the first day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight."

From a statement received from the City Comptroller's office, it appears that the amount of principal already paid into the City Treasury by owners of Wharfing Privileges is $45,221.97, $15,221 97 of which belongs to the School Fund, and should be at once placed in the hands of the School Agent.

Of the portion of the School Fund which consists of money loaned, your committee can only say that, in the opinion of the late as well as the present School Agent, very nearly all of the money is well secured.

A considerable amount of back rent and interest remains unpaid, although the Agent appears to be making very good effort to collect, and is, perhaps, as successful as can at the present time be reasonably expected.

The amount put down for real estate is taken from the last Report of the Superintendent. The valuation was made at the time with care by men of good judgment, and would probably have been considered low by most of our real estate men; yet, after a careful examination, your committee are of the opinion that a considerable reduction must be made in fixing a present cash value.

The income from the School Fund is much less than might reasonably be expected. The amount received last year was about $17,000.

A small part of the real estate is leased at prices sufficiently high. Another portion produces much less than its real value; and quite a large amount, including all the country lands, is entirely unproductive. These lands, in the opinion of your committee, should be either sold or leased, so that some revenue may be derived from them.

Block 87, S. S., is held by the city at a merely nominal rent. This valuable property was leased by the city, to the city, in July, 1851, for ten years at $800 per annum. At the end of ten years, by the terms or the lease, an appraisement is to be made by men to be appointed by the Common Council, and the city is to hold the premises for another ten years at a rent of five per cent. upon the appraisal.

It may be proper to remark, that so far as we can learn, the Common Council have never permitted any of the School property to be leased to any tenant except itself, for more than five years, without a revaluation; nor for less than six per cent. upon the appraised value.

Your committee do not believe that by the action above mentioned, the guardians of the city had any intention or desire to wrong the School Fund. The entire history of the city government forbids such a thought. Having been somewhat conversant with the administration of the city affairs from the commencement, your committee are able, with pleasure and pride, to bear testimony to the untiring energy and zeal with which the city government and the people of Chicago have ever watched over and guarded the interests of their public schools. But yet the holding of this property by the city has worked, and is working, a serious injury to the School Fund; and it is believed that the Common Council need only to be reminded of the facts in the case, to insure such action as is just and proper. The difference between the sum paid by the city for the use of block 87, since it took possession of it, and the amount it would have produced, had it been properly leased, would no doubt be sufficient to purchase the grounds and erect one of our largest school edifices.

It should be stated in this connection that several of the most valuable lots belonging to the School Fund are occupied by school houses free from rent. The fund ought to receive rent for these lots. The rent of course would be paid from the two mill tax fund. But the School Fund proper, and the two mill tax fund, should be kept separate and distinct, if for no other reason than to conform to the requirements of the City Charter.

The amount of money applicable to the support of the public schools in the city is, at present, including the avails of the two mill tax, about $108,000 per annum. This is less in proportion to the number of inhabitants than is expended for Public Schools in any other city in the United States as large as Chicago. And yet, were we well supplied with school houses, we might with our present means keep in operation schools sufficient to meet our present wants. But it must also be stated that, while our expenditures for school purposes are less than in any other of our large cities, we are very poorly supplied with school accommodations.

We know of no city in the Union of equal size to our own, that has so small a number of good school houses as Chicago. It should ever be kept in mind that this state of things has not been produced by any want of interest in the subject of education, but is simply the result of an increase of population more rapid than can any where else be found. With these facts in view, what is the duty of those who are charged with the care and management of the School Fund?

By provisions contained in chapter XI of the City Charter, the Common Council are made the guardians of the School Fund. They have the power, and it is made their duty, "to do all acts and things in relation to said school lands and School Fund, which they may think proper to their safe preservation and efficient management."

In the 13th Section of Article 1 of Public Schools, on page 382, Municipal Laws, it is made the duty of this Board to recommend to the Common Council such action in relation to School property, as they may deem necessary. In compliance with this requirement, and in view of the facts presented in this Report, your Committee recommend the adoption by this Board of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That this Board respectfully recommend to the Common Council:

1. That an order be passed directing the Comptroller to pay to the School Agent the money due from the city to the School Fund, from cash received by the city from the Wharfing Lot Fund.

2. That the Common Council make such arrangement with the School Agent as shall secure to the School Fund a fair rent for block 87, school section.

3. That the School Fund be credited with the rents of lots belonging to that Fund, and occupied by school houses, and that the rents be charged to the Two Mill Tax Fund.

4. That an order be passed, authorizing in such manner as the Council may deem proper, the leasing or sale of lands outside of the city belonging to the School Fund.

5. That a Committee be appointed whose duty it shall be, from time to time to examine the books and papers of the School Agent, and report to the Common Council their opinion in regard to the care, efficiency and safety with which the School Funds are managed.

F. MOSELEY,
W. L. NEWBERRY, } Committee.
W. H. FOSTER.

A letter of acknowledgment was received from the Hon. Mark Skinner, whose name had been given to the new school building in the West Division.

Reports were presented by the sub-Committees and the Superintendent, respecting the condition of the schools.

NEITHER JUST NOR HONEST.—The Chicago Times of Sunday contains an account of a recent difficulty between Mr. McVicker manager of the Chicago Theatre, and the Misses Lonsdale, which we are assured, does great injustice to the latter. The statement bears strong external evidence of having been furnished by Mr. McVicker himself, and we, therefore take it as his own version of the affair. In that statement there are a few grains of truth, but the greater part of the real facts in the case are suppressed. A friend of ours, whose word no man will question, gives us the following facts: The Misses Lonsdales, who are well known as estimable ladies in every relation, were induced to come here under the representation that from peculiar relations which they bore to a popular organization, they would meet with eminent success. These representations were not fulfilled. They came alone, without a protector, and were therefore compelled to give personal attention to their own business. They had barely sufficient funds to bring them here from New York, and of course found it necessary to have their pay when due. They called several times for their money, and were unable to get it. On Saturday evening, being the last night of their engagement, as they went to the Theatre they again called at the box office and asked for their pay, and informed the Treasurer that unless they were paid, they would not appear. The Treasurer excused himself then as being busy, and told them he would hand them the money as soon as the first act of the play was over. Upon this promise, they performed their parts to the end of the play. The Treasurer did not give them their money at the end of the first act, nor at the end of the play, and they thus saw no alternative but to refuse to appear in the afterpiece. Hence the emeute which followed.

The insult offered to the ladies by Mr. McVicker, before the curtain and through the papers, knowing that they were unprotected, we think the public will pronounce cruel and cowardly, not to be justified by any code of good breeding usually understood and acknowledged by gentlemen.

It may not be improper to add that mutual friends of the parties have called upon Mr. McVicker, and endeavored to induce him to pay the Misses L. the sum which he acknowledges in his own statement is their due; and that he has utterly refused to do so, notwithstanding he well knows that they are a thousand miles from home, without one cent of money to pay bills which they have incurred here, or to pay their return passage. Mr. McVicker may be able to justify his wanton cruelty to these unprotected ladies, but we have our doubts. H.

The Great Wonder of the Nineteenth Century.
Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative.

Says the St. Louis, Mo., Democrat: Below we publish a letter to Dr. Wood, of this city, from a gentleman in Maine, which speaks glowingly of the superior merits of his hair tonic. Such evidence must have its effect, when coming from a reliable source. If certificates are guarantees of truth, the Dr. needs no encomiums, nor useless puffery from the press:

BATH, MAINE, Jan. 20, 1858.

Professor O. J. Wood & Co.—Gentlemen: Having my attention called a few months since to the highly beneficial effects of your hair restorative, I was induced to make application of it upon my own hair, which had become quite grey, probably one-third white; my whiskers were of same character. Some three months since I procured a bottle of your hair restorative, and used it. I soon found it was proving what I had wished. I used it about twice a week. I have since procured another bottle, of which I have used some. I can now certify to the world that the grey or white hair has totally disappeared; both on my head and face, and my hair has resumed its natural color, and I believe more soft and glossy than it has been before for twenty-five years. I am now sixty years old; my good wife at the age of fifty-two years, has used it with the same effect.

The above notice I deem due to you for your valuable discovery. I am assured that whoever will rightly use, as per directions, will not have occasion to contradict my statements. I am a citizen of this city and a resident here for the last fifteen years, and am known to nearly every one here and adjoining towns. Any use you may make of the above, with my name attached, is at your service, as I wish to preserve the beauties of nature in others as well as myself. I am truly yours A. C. RAYMOND.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 23, 1858.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor Wood—Dear Sir: Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1854, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation and found it to answer as the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure. FINLEY JOHNSON.

The undersigned, Rev. J. K. Bragg, is a minister in regular standing, and pastor of the Orthodox Church at Brookfield, Mass. He is a gentleman of great influence and universally beloved. WM. DYER.

BROOKFIELD, Jan. 12, 1858.

Professor Wood—Dear Sir: Having made a trial of your Hair Restorative, it gives me pleasure to say that its effect has been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff and a constant tendency to itching with which I have been troubled from my childhood; and has also restored my hair which was becoming grey, to its original color. I have used no other article with anything like the same pleasure or profit. Yours truly, J. K. BRAGG.

THE WATCH QUESTION.—
American vs. Foreign Watches.

A CARD.

THE ONLY ENTIRELY SATISFACTORY PROOF OF A GOOD WATCH IS, THAT IT TELLS CORRECTLY AND WITHOUT INTERRUPTION, THE TRUE TIME OF DAY. All other tests are illusory. If the Watch will not perform equally and with accuracy, it is to no purpose whatever that it is elaborately finished, that curious shapes and patented devices are adopted, that novel escapements and ingenious contrivances for compensation are introduced, or that the whole is covered by a famous name and by a massive and costly case. Hundreds of worthless Watches are beautifully finished and some are exquisitely contrived to run badly and wear out quickly. A great deal of work is most often a great deal of complexity, and all will admit that no amount of mere polish will equalize any piece that is radically malformed or inexactly fitted. It is SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION, and such mathematical correctness in the size and shape of every part as the application of machinery to the purpose alone insures, that, with sufficient nicety of finish accompanies the desired result.

The founders and managers of the American Watch Company at Waltham are determined to make TIME-KEEPERS whether they make money or not. They do not undervalue ornament, but they feel that they cannot overvalue TIME. THIS IS THE MEANING OF THEIR WHOLE ESTABLISHMENT. Thoroughly familiar, by practical experience, with the evils inherent in foreign Watches—evils which all watch dealers will bear them out in saying, render nearly worthless for all purposes of time-keeping a large majority of foreign Watches—they aim, through the substitution of mechanical science, for the uncertain judgment of the eye and imperfect skill of the hand, to produce an article that shall not only look like a watch but perform the duties of a Watch, adorning it with such a degree of finish as is sufficient, and which, through costliness, will not put it above the reach of any class in the community. And THAT THEY HAVE DONE THIS, AND ARE DOING IT, they confidently appeal to the thousands whose daily coming and going is regulated by Waltham Watches to say. In every system, even the best, there will be imperfections, and instances of failure doubtless occur in the Waltham manufacture, but it is a system which produces Watches which are IDENTICAL rather than SIMILAR, the proportion of such must be reduced to a minimum.

Having achieved this decisive victory, a victory with a reason for it—the American Watch Company is far from being disappointed at the frequent and unscrupulous opposition it meets from many in the importing business. This opposition was to have been expected, and the occasion of it will be apparent to any one who considers the extent of the importer's trade, and its highly profitable character. The Company has no reason to be dissatisfied with the amount of patronage it receives, since it is obliged by the multiplication of orders, largely to increase its force, and to work by night as well as day; but it is not content that any portion of the community should be misled as to the real merit of its Watches. Unfortunately there is no article in common use which people generally so little understand as a Watch, and a man's watchmaker is his only reliance for judgment. So long, therefore, as imported Watches yield a rich profit to the importer, the Company expect a good deal of decrying and disparagement, wise shaking of the head and faint praise.

The Company is gratified to be able to say, however, that there are hundreds in the trade whose supreme interest is not in importation, or in an old stock on hand, who have no national antipathies to an American Watch; who, indeed, from patriotic motives, would rather distribute them, even if they were not twice as sound and honest, and cheap as any other—with whom Waltham Watches may be found. The Company confidently maintains that its Watches will abide the conclusive test of time-keeping, and upon that ground it is content to rest its claims to the general patronage. The public will bear in mind that these Watches are made for reputation, and with the responsibility of perpetual guaranty constantly in view; for, however they may change hands, wherever and whenever they are found faulty, the Company is bound to make them good.

CAUTION.—As our Watch is now extensively counterfeited by foreign manufacturers, we have to inform the public that no Watch is of our production which is unaccompanied by a certificate of genuineness, bearing the number of the Watch, and signed by our Treasurer, R. E. ROBBINS, or by our predecessors, APPLETON, TRACY & CO.

☞ As these Watches are for sale by Jewelers generally, throughout the Union, we do not solicit orders for single Watches. For the American Watch Company,

THE JEFFREYS DEMOCRACY.

Since "Col." Forbes' pretended revelations, concerning the raid of Osawatomie Brown upon the Harper's Ferry, are to be used for the condemnation in the public mind, of half a dozen of the purest and best men in the nation, it is a misfortune for the Pro-Slavery party that they have not the power to put them on trial before some extemporized Jeffreys, and make them pay the forfeit of their lives for the crime of being wrongfully suspected and criminally accused. The New York Herald and Times might find in the faction for which they do service some Lecompte who would worthily fill Jeffreys' shoes; and for the rest, there are a hundred incidents in the judicial career of that model office-holder which would serve as precedents for hanging every Republican Senator and Governor upon whom hands could be laid. For instance, when the Judge went down to Dorchester, after the Monmouth rebellion, for the September assize, he did that which would now serve the Democracy to a turn. There was a certain constable in the neighborhood who had some money in his hands for the use of the King's militia, which the Duke seized for his own expenses. The evidence against him was only that of an abandoned woman, but he was ordered to be hanged at once. One Mathew Bagg, an attorney, had the misfortune to have his horse stolen by the Duke's men, and one John Lawrence, who managed an estate near Dorchester, suffered the loss of three horses in the same way; but on his remonstrance, one horse was given up. According to the Judge, these men were guilty of treason, and he bullied and badgered the jury until they brought in a verdict, when both Bagg and Lawrence were sentenced to be hung up by the neck. The latter got off by paying £400, and of the former Jeffrey's remarked,—"If any lawyer or parson comes in my way he shall not escape the rope!"—a judicial avowal that, with a slight alteration, the Democracy will do well to remember.

But the case which would serve Mr. Buchanan—the James of our day—best, is this: Lady Alicia Lisle, the widow of a notorious dissenter and Cromwellian—a Republican of those days—entertained at her hospitable mansion a couple of strangers of whose quality she was ignorant. One of them, before leaving, avowed that he was one of Monmouth's men, and had fled from Weston Moor. Lady Alicia was loyal, and sent to the nearest magistrate a message announcing the presence of the rebels; but before he returned, they were surprised in her house. When she was tried, the jury disliked to hang a lady of her good reputation and great age (she was seventy) upon testimony like that which we have related. But the Judge said, "If I were among you, and the prisoner were my own mother, I should find her guilty." She was led to execution with the others. At that famous sitting many hundred were condemned to death, while thousands, the greater part of whom were innocent, were transported, imprisoned, whipped, branded or sold for slaves. A quaint old writer of the period says that "Jeffreys made "all the West an Aceldama; some places "quite depopulated, and nothing to be seen in "'em but forsaken walls, unlucky gibbets and "ghastly carkases. The trees were loaded "with quarters as thick as leaves; the houses "and steeples covered with heads as at other "times frequently in that country with crows "or ravens. Nothing could be liker hell than "all those parts; nothing so like the devil as "he. Caldrons hizzing, carkases boyling, "pitch and tar sparkling and glowing; blood "and limbs boyling and tearing, and he the "great director of all; and in a word, dis"charging his place who sent him—the best "deserving to be the King's Chief Justice "there and Chancellor after, of any man that "breath'd since Cain or Judas!"

The Democrats have got their Titus Oates in the person of the redoubtable "Col." Forbes. They have got the carpet-bag of Brown, and if they do not find there all they wish, can the men who do not hesitate a moment in the forging of election returns to suit any emergency in any district, inquire what to do? They have, in fact, all the machinery for a prosecution in their own hands, saving, always, the Jeffreys for the Bench; but we doubt not that out of the abundant material in their party, one might be manufactured, who would, for a foreign mission or an army contract, do for our James, what Jeffreys, for the Chancellorship of England, did for the James of his day. We have pointed out to them the precedents upon which they may act; but as their foul language and unsupported accusations of treason against the leading men of our party, show that they have not been unfamiliar with the leading events of Jeffreys life we will say only this: Let them remember that that faithful office holder and infamous judge died miserably in prison, just in time to escape the gibbet to which he had sentenced so many righteous men; and that the party which aided and sustained him in the iniquities which he practiced, was driven from power never to possess it again.

THE SUPPRESSED TESTIMONY.

There is hardly any room for doubt that Old Brown's fate was made up in caucus the day he was captured, and that he is approaching his end at a hand-gallop, through the avenue of judicial murder. Our latest advices from Charlestown make it palpably evident that the old man's protest against "the mockery of a trial" has been unavailing, and that the Chivalry who have him in charge have even added theft to the other indecencies of the Court room, whereby Brown is deprived of the means of procuring witnesses. In all matters pertaining to slavery and slave property the code of Judge Lynch is the common law of Virginia, and its operation in the present case is deferred a few days, merely to give time for the Holy Inquisition—consisting of Mason, Faulkner, Boteler, Vallandigham, the big dog of the New York Herald, and the little dog of the New York Times—to torture or manufacture testimony out of the prisoners to the damage of their political opponents. As soon as this mine is worked dry, we may look for the execution of Brown and his misguided fellows—unless the political influence of Gov. Willard, of Indiana, shall save his brother-in-law, Cook, from the doom which would otherwise be in store for him.

Granted, that Brown has been guilty of a capital offence. Granted, that he is not, as those who know him best aver, a stark madman, fit food for lunatic asylums. Granted that a fair trial would send him to a murderer's death. What is to be gained by crowding the old man to the gallows in advance of such means of defense as are allowed in civilized communities to horse thieves and midnight assassins? What end is to be served by stealing his money and cutting off his means of procuring witnesses and counsel? Is it possible that no bloodshed can be traced to the door of John Brown individually, if the whole history of the transaction be brought before the jury? Is it possible that the old man, lunatic though he be, has not made himself liable to the death penalty, if his crime is construed by the strict letter of the law and the evidence? If the functionaries who have Brown in charge do not wish the country to believe that important facts mitigating his offence are kept out of sight—that important testimony vindicating his personal conduct at Harper's Ferry is suppressed—that he is sacrificed to judicial malice rather than to violated law,—let them look to it that the barbarian haste with which he is being hurried to a verdict of guilty is corrected. It is not impossible that Brown kept his own skirts clear of blood. It is not impossible that his worst crime was that of manslaughter, or some offence only punishable by imprisonment. We do not hazard the opinion that such is the fact, but we say that the public mind will assuredly drift to that conclusion, if the unseemly haste with which Brown is being driven to the gibbet is persevered in to the end. If there were any great public peril incurred by a few day's delay in the finding of a verdict, we might see a necessity in the course which is being pursued. If there were any remote danger that the ends of justice would be unsatisfied, we might acknowledge the fitness of bringing the man into court with his sabre cuts and bayonet thrusts all fresh—himself so weak as to be unable to stand upright—but even in such contingency we could not admit the rightfulness of robbing him of the means of procuring testimony which he deemed essential to his defence, and hurrying him to his fate with half a trial.

CONCILIATING THE NORTH.

Just about the time that a mob in Covington, Ky., was sacking the office of the Free South, because of its moderate and temperate Republican sentiments, the Richmond Inquirer was demanding the enactment of a Congressional Slave Code, for the protection of Slavery not only in the Territories, but in the States as well. Thus we have two blows at once. The ideas which animate every loyal Northern man, and which give stability and growth to free institutions, are forbidden in Slave territory by the threatened penalties of lynch law. At the same time, the interference of the Federal power is claimed for the protection, in the States, of that Slavery which every Northern man hates! The claim is supported by a menace, that, unless it be granted, "there will "assemble no more National Conventions of "the Democracy, and the day of disunion will "speedily dawn!" Much ought to be forgiven the people of Covington and the valiant editors of the Inquirer, in consequence of the extraordinary trepidation into which they were thrown by Brown's conquest of Harper's Ferry; but the criminality of the first, in their endeavors to put an end to discussion by destroying the freedom of the press, and the insolence of the last in claiming of the general government the protection for human chattels that the owners of no other sort of "property" ever had the hardihood to ask, are unpardonable. They evince a steady determination on the part of Southern men to rupture every tie of fraternity by which they are bound to the North. Think of it! Companies of Federal troops scouring the Free States in search of suspected fugitives from labor, lighted on their way by Republican printing offices in a blaze! Thus is the North conciliated!

NEW ROUTE TO THE PACIFIC.

Readers of the PRESS AND TRIBUNE have not forgotten that during the past summer a steamer ascended the Missouri River to Fort Benton, with two hundred and eighty tons of freight, thus demonstrating the feasibility of navigation to that point. Fort Benton is situated ten miles below the Great Falls of the Missouri, in latitude 47 deg. 20 min., longitude 109 deg. 45 min., and is about 3,000 miles distant from St. Louis. On the western slope of the mountains the Columbia is navigable by steamer to the mouth of Snake River, which is only 600 miles from Fort Benton. By this route, therefore, land carriage, in a trip across the continent, is reduced to the last named distance, with a corresponding reduction in time and the fatigue and hardships of an overland journey.

By letters recently received by Gen. R. K. Swift of this city, from Wallopta, Washington Territory, we learn that Lieut. Mullen is now engaged in constructing a wagon road from Fort Walla Walla to Fort Benton which he will complete the present season as far eastward as the Bitter Root Valley, where he will winter. From the last named point there is already a good natural road to Fort Benton.—Emigrants to Washington, Oregon, or Upper California will therefore have the choice next Spring between this and the old routes of travel. The letters above-named speak in the highest terms of the new route, asserting that it is entirely feasible for heavily loaded teams, abounding in wood, water and grass the entire distance from Fort Benton to Fort Walla Walla. An Oregon paper in announcing the opening of the route across the Mountains by Lieut Mullen, thus speaks of some of the probable results:

The next matter to be determined, is the length of time each year that steamboats can reach Fort Benton. We believe in the end this will be accomplished longer than any one—the most sanguine—has hitherto anticipated. Settlement and trade will follow up speedily the clatter of the steamers wheels on both sides of the continent, and narrow the unsettled region down to a trifling belt indeed—and must lead at an early day to the opening in this direction of a great highway for mails and travel from east to west.

Origin of the Present Parties.

The Republican party numbers in its ranks one million five hundred thousand voters. It was made up from the old Whig, Democratic and Free Soil parties. Five hundred thousand were Democratic originally, and they formed the picked men of the old Democracy. Eight hundred thousand true men came from the old Whig party. The Free Soilers contributed two hundred thousand.

The present Democratic party North, consists first, of such members of the old party as were pro slavery at heart; second, of those whose love of plunder is greater than their attachment to right principles; third, the class who don't care whether slavery is voted up or down; fourth the priest-ridden portion of the Catholics; fifth, pro-slavery Whigs; sixth, apostate free soilers. These ingredients compounded call themselves the Democracy.

Each of these parties date their origin from the destruction of the Missouri Compromise, when their respective elements were collected together and fused into the present party organizations.

Illinois Teacher's Association.

The fourth annual gathering of the Teachers of our State comes off at Ottawa, the last week in December next. The one held at Galesburg last winter presented an array of talent and beauty worthy the system of public education to which these occasions owe their origin. The teachers were made the guests of the private citizens. The varied exercises were interposed with music, and the whole terminated in a happy reunion at the spacious rooms of the female department of Knox College.

Already arrangements are far advanced for the successful conducting of another anniversary. It remains for wealth-producing Ottawa to show how far she will outvie her intellectual rival in the coming gala day.

Provision has been made by the Executive Committee, of which P. P. Haywood of Aurora is Chairman, for a large number of essays and addresses from prominent educational men of our own State, and from abroad, by which a rich intellectual treat may be anticipated. We have wondered before, and now ask, why neither the Principal nor Professors of the State Normal University have not been called out to make a public exposition of the systems of instruction adopted at that Institution. It is increasing in its influence, and is soon to assume an importance as the key-stone of the great policy of free instruction for the masses, which shall crown and perfect the whole. It is due to the people that this exposition should be made. Only a few of the many know anything of its daily workings, for the few only, can attend. It seems to us that at Ottawa a fitting opportunity will be presented for this purpose, and we hope it is not too late to make the provision suggested.

Q. E. D.

When the news of the insurrection at Harper's Ferry reached Boston, did Edward Everett buckle on his knapsack and march for the seat of war? PEACE MAN.

We have not learned that he did. His grit passed off long ago by a channel which Bob Acres courage did not take. More than that, his ornate but stupid oration on Washington, wherein no reference is made to the crowning glory of the hero's life, proves that his brave words spoken in Congress are to be taken only in a Pickwickian sense—that he can not be induced to lower his hifalutin flights for the consideration of any matter in which the everlasting "nigger" is in any way mixed up. But the "Ledger for next week" will prove that his time has been appropriately employed. "Everett writes for the Ledger!"

☞ Not long since, workmen engaged in excavating for the Sunbury and Erie Railroad, near Erie, Pa., threw out a quantity of human bones, which proved to be those of the brave marines who fell at the battle of Lake Erie. They were carefully taken up and interred with honor by the authorities of Erie. The citizens of the place have subscribed $2,500 to erect a monument over them, and T. D. Jones, Esq., has been selected to make the design and superintend its erection.

Our Pike's Peak Correspondence.

The First Snow—The Climate—Wheat and Garden Vegetables—Prices in Denver City—Mineral and Vegetable Resources of Middle Park, etc.

[Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.]

AURARIA, Oct. 16, 1859.

On last Sunday night we had a fall of four inches of snow, this being the second snow storm of the season. The first was on the 28th of September. A snow fall in the South Platte Valley does not mean anything serious, not even so serious as to discommode the Autumnal Asters and Helianths, which are none the less bright and fresh looking for their snowy covering of last night. Before night the snow will be all gone, except now and then a little bunch under the friendly shelter of the young pines.

I notice in the Eastern papers accounts of the severity of the weather in the Pike's Peak country. Now I want to place my solemn protest on record against such outrageous falsehoods as these. Why, the truth is, that in fourteen years residence in Northern Illinois, I have never seen autumn weather that would at all compare with ours this fall. No finer weather could be had if these croakers were permitted to order it. During the day, now, we can get about very comfortably without a coat, and the thermometer ranges from 50 to 70 degrees—oftenest the latter. At night there is sometimes a very slight frost. The night of September 29th, the coldest yet, I do not think the thermometer would have indicated less than 28 degrees.

Enclosed please find a sample of spring wheat which came up in a little patch of corn planted last June in Denver. The wheat was so late that the first frost (Sept. 18) caused it to shrink a little, but if it is not about as fine wheat yet as Illinois will produce, I am mistaken. If wheat were planted in June in any of the Western States, it would rust to nothing; but here the rust and blight can never come on account of our clear dry atmosphere. If this wheat is a fair sample of what our country will produce, our prospects are truly encouraging.

The tests to which horticulture has been put this season have resulted satisfactorily; potatoes, cabbages, melons, beets, corn, cucumbers, turnips, &c., &., have all done well, I have seen beets of six pounds, and potatoes of one and a half pounds. A lot of garden "truck" has been sent on to the Missouri State Fair at St. Louis. A price list of the necessaries of life may be interesting to your readers; below is such a list.

Flour, American, $15 per 100 lb; Mexican, No. 1, $12; No. 2, $9; Bacon, $24; Sugar, $25@30; Rice, $25; Coffee, $22@30; Tea, $1@2 ℔ lb.; Salt, $12@15 ℔ cwt.; Pilot Bread, $25@30 do; Dried Apples, $30 do; Potatoes 12½c per lb; Cabbage, 15c per lb; Onions, 10c; Beets, 15c. Lumber, $60 per M; Saingles, $7; Lath, $30; Lime, $1 per bu; Brick, $15 per M. Board—1st class, $1 per meal, $12 per week; 2d class, 50c per meal, $7 per week.

In explanation let me say that bacon, flour and saleratus are considered necessaries of life, and all other eatables luxuries. The apparatus generally required to fit these necessaries for the human digestion is as follows, all over and above this list being considered superfluities, viz: 1 frying pan, 1 tin pan (to mix dodgers), 1 iron pot, 1 tin plate, 1 knife, 1 cup, 1 spoon, but the pans and pot are generally made to serve a company. Thus do the civilized and enlightened American citizens who are developing the resources of the second best gold field on the Western Continent live and thrive.

An evidence of the extreme healthfulness of the region is found in the fact that with all the exposure and hardship and with all the violence, only a dozen graves are to be found in the Auraria cemetery.

A couple of days since I had a long conversation with Dr. Casto, who has spent the latter part of the summer in exploring the Middle Park, which lies due west of us over the Snowy Range, and who is now engaged in getting up a book and map relating to this region. From him I learn several important facts: 1st. That all the head waters of the Blue River in Middle Park are gold bearing. 2nd. That the country not being so elevated as on this side of the divide, the climate is much milder. 3d. That red and white Clover, Timothy and Hungarian Millet are indigenous productions. 4th. That the soil is extremely fertile and susceptible of cultivation. This region lies within the bounds of Jefferson Territory, and the Doctor says that the arable soil will support the population of a small State. So you see there is plenty of room for the thousands who will start Westward next season. H. H. M.

Kansas Fruits.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

Those who are now straining every nerve to make party capital out of Old Brown, are careful not to look back so far as to see how and why he became a monomaniac. They look away from the fact that his attempt to get up an insurrection in Virginia is a legitimate consequence of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, and that for the passage of that measure, it had never have happened. President Pierce and Judge Douglas are thus the real authors of the late insurrection. After them, scarcely less guilty are Senators Badger of North Carolina, Pierce of Maryland, and the great body of Southern Whigs who followed their lead; and following, in close and indivisible conjunction, come the whole body of Southern Democrats of every hue and description. There are Senators Mason and Hunter; Representatives Letcher, Bocock, and their associates, from Virginia; Toombs, and Stephens, and Cobb, of Georgia; Keitt, and Brooks, and Butler, of South Carolina; Brown, and Jeff. Davis, of Mississippi, Clay of Alabama, and the whole throng of their associates, whose names need not be enumerated. These are the real guilty parties in this transaction. They are the true authors of this last insurrection, and, as such, are the men to be held to account for its results, present and future. But while these are men of the South, and such as Toucey & Co. from the North, who are the guilty parties, there are others who are free from all implication with it. The individuals who may wash their hands of all blame and all responsibility for this event, are those few brave men of the South who resisted that fatal measure on the ground of the mischief it would work to the South; such as Bell, and Etheredge, and Cullom of Tennessee, and Hunt, of Louisiana. These men can point to their record with pride and with triumph at this moment. While the great body of Southern Legislators and Statesmen stand implicated before the country as being the proximate authors of the recent tragedy at Harper's Ferry, these few truly brave and enlightened guardians of Southern tranquility can point to their arguments and example as those which, if followed by considerate men, would have spared the country the details, and the South the dangers, it seems barely to have escaped. Sharing in this high position, stand the whole body of Anti-Nebraska men from the North, who resisted that measure of iniquity. That its fruits have returned to plague its inventors is no more than was predicted, no more than was to have been expected.

Let those, then, who have reproaches to heap upon the authors of the Harper's Ferry bloody tumult and general Southern fright, go back to the true cause of it all. Let them not blame blind and inevitable instruments in the work, nor falsely malign those who are in no wise implicated, directly or indirectly; but let them patiently investigate the true source whence this demonstration arose, and then bestow their curses and their anathemas accordingly. It is childish and absurd for Governor Wise to seize and sit astride the wounded, panting body of Old Brown, and think he has got the villain who set this mischief on foot. By no means. The head conspirators against the peace of Virginia are ex-President Franklin Pierce and Senator Douglas. These are the parties he should apprehend, confine, and try, for causing this insurrection. Next to them, he should seize upon Senators Mason and Hunter, of Virginia, as accessories. Let him follow on by apprehending every supporter of the Nebraska bill, and when he shall have brought them all to condign punishment, he will have discharged his duty, but not till then.

Dread of Slave Revolts.

Speaking of the dread of slave revolts constantly in the minds of slaveholders the N. Y. Post says:

One aspect of these slave revolts, which has often presented itself to our mind, has been impressed upon us with renewed force by the circumstances of the Harper's Ferry stampede. It is the panic by which they must ever be accompanied. No matter how slight the spark, the apparent combustion is terrific. Old Brown, with his score of followers, has set the entire commonwealth in commotion, and arrested the gaze of the world. The same number of men with the same means, anywhere else, might have been suppressed by the ordinary police of the village. In a slave community they require the interposition of Governors, Presidents, marines, militia and mobs. The fancied danger transcends the real danger. A spectre always stalks behind the incendiary, of enormous and shadowy proportions: not one spectre only, but a troop of spectres; such a caravan as Freiligrath describes in his poem of the desert, when the sand-wreaths seem to twirl into fearful shapes, and legions of dusky warriors come pressing onward in terrible array. The pilgrim trembles, and the very camels and horses grow frantic, because they fear the bursting of the Simoon.

Squatter Sovereignty Trash.

We have received advance copies of Senator Douglas' latest production in regard to squatter sovereignty in the Territories; but the discussion on that silly subject is altogether too trashy to bestow even a paragraph upon. The question on which the people of the United States are interested now is not one about squatters and half-breed Indians in the far-off Western Territories, but about the existence of our federal government and the maintenance of internal peace. And let us say, in this connection, to Mr. Senator Douglas, that if he and Jeff. Davis and poor Pierce had not conspired to repeal the Missouri Compromise, and thus to re-open the slavery agitation, we should not at this day have been menaced with such dangers as those of which the Harper's Ferry insurrection warns us. We want no squatter sovereignty trash.—N. Y. Herald.

Servile Insurrections.

The Wheeling Intelligencer, refers in proof of its position, to the experiences of St. Domingo and the Southampton massacre, but it might have readily extended the range of its illustrations. Ancient authorities abound in instances of the restlessness of the servile classes in all the States of antiquity, and of their terrible reactions against the superior orders. In Sparta, it is well known, they were periodically murdered by hundreds to get rid of the increase, and in the other societies of Greece the repressive measures resorted to were scarcely less cruel and inhuman. Under the Roman republic, where a larger scheme of politics obviated a resort to such summary remedies, slave revolts were frequent. An incessant vigilance, and the perfect organization of the Roman government and armies, generally nipped them in the bud, although they were none the less causes of unabating disquietude and care. As the compactness of the republic, however, was relaxed by the diffusion of its power over a larger extent of territory, the dangers of these outbreaks became more formidable. The island of Sicily fell completely into the hands of armed bodies of slaves, who glutted their vengeance in the most frightful atrocities; and from Sicily the contagion spread to the continent, where an almost universal insurrection took place. It required all the energy of Rome, mistress as she was of Carthage, Corinth and Numantia, to suppress this intestine war more difficult and disastrous than any of her foreign conquests. Later insurrections, especially those which included the gladiators, the readers of Roman history will readily bring to their minds.

In those ancient revolts, it is true, the actors were not Africans, but Europeans—men of the same general stock, if not of the same particular races and tribes, as their masters—they were Germans, Gauls, Samaritans and Spaniards—and it may be argued that less danger may be apprehended from the docile and ignorant black races than from the irritable and impetuous ancestors of the modern civilized nations of Europe; but the Virginia print meets this objection, admitting it to be well taken, with a few pregnant facts. The blood of the white races is rapidly commingling with that of the blacks, who in its own expressive phrase, are sloughing off the torpor and obtuseness which is imputed to their minds, and acquiring the characteristics of the superior breed. Not only do the mixed sort imbibe a greater energy and intelligence, but along with it a keener consciousness of their position, and that morbid and sullen disposition which renders them an easy prey and a powerful implement to the fanatic. All the worst cases of crime, we are told, all the most refractory and stubborn resistance to law, which occur in the South, are the work of those who share the blood of the whites.—N. Y. Post.

The Coup D'Etat.

[From the National Era.]

The Washington States, the Douglas organ in this city, renews its threat of a coup d'etat in the event of the election of a Republican President. We published some months ago a paragraph from the editorial columns of that journal, in which Floyd, Thompson and Cobb, the Southern memers of the Cabinet, were enjoined by their allegiance to slavery, never to surrender their trusts to the hands of "Black Republicans." Floyd, the Secretary of War, was especially called upon to hold fast to his command of the army in the contingency supposed.

The following is a reiteration of the same treasonable sentiment by the States of Friday last:

"It would be expecting too much of humanity to suppose that the slaveholding States would risk submission to such an Administration as Black Republicanism would bring to Washington. Virginia, in view of what has transpired within the last few days, would be faithless to every principle which she holds most dear, were she to consent to let the Armory at Harper's Ferry and the fortifications at Old Point Comfort pass into the keeping of a Seward, a Chase, a Banks, or any other Black Republican. What security could be furnished her, that the arms therein contained would not be employed for overpowering her?"

We are not informed by the Douglas organ whether its favorite Douglas is to be made provisional President, a la Ossawatomie Brown, or whether Mr. Buchanan is expected to hold over. But the States' known hatred of the President would lead us to expect that Mr. Douglas is to play the Napoleon. As the States and its confederates meditate treason, on the happening of a probable event, we presume that they have their programme cut and dried, just as Brown had his. We are curious to compare the "Democratic" Provisional Constitution with the one found in old Brown's bag. It would be curious if they should be found to correspond in their leading features.

Fillibuster Stephens.

The Norwich (Ct.) Bulletin says that Aaron Dwight Stephens, the companion of Capt Brown at Harper's Ferry, and who is now suffering from wounds that may prove mortal, is a son of Capt. Aaron Stephens, of Norwich. Mr. H. L. Reed communicates to the Bulletin some incidents of his life, which that paper condenses as follows:

"Stephens was born in Lisbon, Ct., somewhere near the year 1830. He was a bold, fearless boy, rather restive under parental discipline, but always known as a kind hearted fellow, and one who would always take sides with the weaker party. He lived in this vicinity a part of the time with his parents till his fifteenth year, 1845, and then left for Boston, where he joined a company of volunteers for the war then beginning in Mexico. Proceeding to the scene of conflict, he happened to be in nearly all the engagements that occurred during that struggle. No situation of unusual peril, and which involved unusual hardship, but Dwight Stephens was the man for the place. He enjoyed the confidence of his superior officers, and was sometimes intrusted with the execution of enterprises, that but for his fearlessness would have been committed to men far above him in rank. After the conclusion of the Mexican war, he spent some time in this vicinity, but at length found himself in Kansas about the commencement of hostilities there. His Mexican campaign had given him a soldierly air, besides imparting to his physical system a power of endurance and a strength of muscle almost without a parallel. Espousing the cause of the Free State men with all the ardor of his impetuous nature, he was soon elected, under the assumed name of Whipple, the commander of the Topeka Boys."

What Gerrit Smith Says.

The Syracuse Journal learns from a gentleman who has conversed with Gerrit Smith in regard to the tragedy at Harper's Ferry, that he was in no way identified with or privy to Brown's scheme. His explanation is this:

Two years ago, Mr. Smith, in order to help the Free State movement in Kansas, gave Brown a note of about $300 against a man then in Kansas. Brown could not collect the note so he returned it to Mr. Smith, who agreed to give him, at some future time, cash to the amount of the note. After that he lost sight of Brown until about the 1st of June last, when he received a letter requesting him to send a draft for a certain amount, $100 we think, payable to the order of another party. Mr. Smith, in compliance with the request and his former promise, promptly forwarded the draft, supposing it was a bona fide firm to whom it was addressed. He probably believed also that the money was to be used, at least indirectly, in assisting fugitive slaves, as that was the last "Kansas work" that he knew anything about. Mr. Smith says distinctly that he had no knowledge or the least suspicion that Brown was engaged in planning an insurrection. This agrees perfectly with Brown's statements, that he alone originated and carried on his scheme.

Sensible Southern Paper.

Speaking of the Harper's Ferry riots, the St. Louis Evening News says:

"The Republican party of the country numbers a million and a half voters—a majority of the citizens of all the Free States. What is to be gained by denouncing them as aiders and abettors in the proposed crimes of insurrection, arson and murder? Would it not be unjust, offensive and highly injurious to the good feeling and concord of the nation?

There are fanatics in the North who would willingly exterminate slavery by war and rapine. There are fanatics at the South who would willingly extend slavery by war and rapine. Which is the worse crime in the sight of God and man? The loss of Brown and his party has thinned out the abolition fanatics at the North. Let us not raise up other fanatics there by indecent abuse of innocent men, and endeavoring to make them responsible for old Brown's crimes.'

New Jerusalem Association.

The twentieth annual meeting of the Illinois Association of the New Jerusalem, (Swedenborgian) was lately held in Peoria. It numbered five ministers, one licentiate, twenty-four delegates, and nine isolated members. The meeting of the association lasted three days, and was the most numerously attended of any hitherto held. Over one hundred members of the church and receivers of the doctrines from the different parts of the association, in addition to the members and friends of the church of Peoria, were in attendance. The society in Peoria numbers forty-one members, four of whom were added during the past year. The Sabbath school is attended by about fifty scholars. Nineteen adult members were added to the Chicago society during the past year, making the number of this church one hundred and twenty-four. There are besides these, smaller societies in Canton, Quincy and Henry, belonging to the association. The financial affairs of the association appear to be in good condition. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Isaac S. Britton, of Springfield.

Superintendent and Corresponding Secretary—Rev. J. R. Hibbard, of Chicago.

Recording Secretary—Rev. Thomas Story, of Peoria.

Treasurer—John Hamlin, of Peoria.

Assistant Treasurer—Franklin Scammon, of Chicago.

Executive Committee—John Rawalt, of Canton; Hervey Lightner, of Peoria; Martin C. Bissell, of Joliet; J. Y. Scammon, of Chicago; and Dr. Chas. Davis, of Henry.

An Unfortunate Mistake.

To wine and women is justly attributed many of the mishaps which daily befall man. The truth of this assertion was exemplified in our city yesterday. A "prominent citizen," who has recently been very assiduous in his attention to a certain lady, volunteered to send her a basket of choice wine, just received from the importers. The beverage was dispatched in charge of a blundering porter, to whom was intrusted a note informing the lady that the donor would call and spend the evening. Most unfortunately for all parties, the basket was delivered at the wrong number—a house occupied by a savagely jealous man and his beautiful wife alone. The basket and letter fell into the hands of the gentleman, who, burning with a desire for vengeance, called upon the generous youth, and, without as much ceremony "as by your leave," gave him a sound "punching." After the flagellation had been artistically administered, an explanation ensued, which we trust was satisfactory to both parties.

We are not advised whether lady No. 1 has yet received her allowance of wine.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Osawatamie Brown was a soldier in the War of 1812, and fought at the battle of Plattsburg.

—Mr. Eoff, the driver of Princess, lately drove in a race at Detroit, and had his horse declared distanced for his intentional foul driving.

—The Indian girls at the Osage mission school have deputed the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to be the bearer of a present to the President of the United States. The memento consists of a couple of purses of silk and buckskin, beautifully worked in beads. The package is inscribed in the handwriting of Victoria White Hair, one of the Indian girls, "From the Osage girls to the Great Father."

—Madame Lola Montez recently arrived in New York from Europe, and is living very quietly in lodgings up town, under the name of Mrs. Held. Madame la Comtesse has joined the "New Connection Methodists," understood to the straightest of dissenters; and it is stated that she has come here to disseminate what Mr. Chadband would call the "blessed teruth," according to the "New Connection" view of the article.

—The Cincinnati Gazette says, that the individual who wrote the anonymous letter from that city to Secretary Floyd, hinting at the plan of Brown to incite an insurrection at Harper's Ferry, is supposed to be the same who betrayed the negroes whom Connelly had secreted in his room. He has had the confidence of the "Underground" men, and has used this confidence to betray fugitives and get the "rewards" offered for them by their masters.

—The disinterested manipulators of John Brown's correspondence perpetrated a very shabby fraud in altering the letter in which an allusion was made to a "J. R. G." (Joshua R. Giddings) to make it appear that he had taken "stock" in the Harper's Ferry "Scare" to the amount of $300, when in fact he had simply contributed $3 to Mr. Brown, without the slightest knowledge of his plans. If there is any baser way of manufacturing party capital than this, we have never heard of it.

—A letter from Bedford County, Tenn., addressed to the Postmaster of St. Louis, states that there is a girl 12 years of age, held as a slave in that vicinity, who claims to be the daughter of Peter McGregory, a St. Louis merchant. She says she was at boarding school, when a man came and told her that her father had sent for her. Instead of taking her home, however, he carried her to Memphis and sold her as a slave, threatening to kill her if she said she was free. The St. Louis Democrat, in publishing the account says there is a merchant of the name of McGregory in that city, but does not vouch for the truth of the letter.

—A correspondent of the Charleston Courier praises Gov. Wise as "one of the hardest working men of the age," and says: "One of his schemes is a novel one. When negroes are convicted of crimes, instead of sending them away and making, as he remarked to me, a Botany Bay of South Carolina and Louisiana, he buys them for the State and puts them to work on railroads and other public works. He says the system works well, and the negroes worked well in the railroad tunnels. The Governor is not insensible, too, of the ornate as well as the useful, and devotes himself to improving the capital grounds, already very beautiful, employing the white penitentiary convicts, with a soldier in full uniform, with a musket, standing guard over them, and ready to pop away at them if they attempt to escape."

—The Republicans of Kentucky will meet in Convention on Wednesday morning, Nov. 16, 1859, at Newport, to organize the party in the State; to form a Presidential Electoral ticket; appoint two Senatorial delegates for the State at large, and transact such other business as may become before the Convention.

—Lawson Botts, the counsel for Brown and his confederates, is a son of the late Gen. Thos. H. Botts of Virginia, and nephew of John M. Botts and the Princess Catharine D. Murat of Florida. His mother is a grand-niece of Gen. Washington. Mr. Botts is a young lawyer who relies on his profession for his subsistence, and a man of good ability and spotless character.

—The editor of the Richmond Whig appears to be trying hard to figure in a duel. Hear what he says of Mr. Wallach, of the Washington Star: "He would sell his soul, if he had one, for thirty pieces of silver. He is a professional jobber and swindler, and derives his meat and bread from habitual depredations upon the public treasury. He would lie, or steal, or murder, without hesitation, for those who would pay him."

—Mr. T. H. Stillwell has been arrested at Alexandria, Va., for "seditious language," while conversing on the subject of the Harper's Ferry affair. Mr. Jas. A. Houtenburgh became his security. Mr. Stillwell is said to be a recent emigrant from the North. The "seditious language" uttered by him is not repeated by the press. Was it a quotation from Jefferson?

—Roger A. Pryor, who declared last spring that the Democratic party had ceased to exist, has been elected to Congress from the Petersburg (Va.) District, in place of Hon. Wm. O. Goode, deceased. Pryor has been claimed as a Douglas man, but on the stump he declared that Douglas was not his first or even fifth choice, though he would support him if the regular nominee for the Presidency. That was evidently considered a very harmless proposition, Douglas being politically defunct.

—Lord Brougham, though 81 years of age, has just undergone an amount of work in a single week, which would have severely taxed the energies of a man in middle life. His address at the meeting of the Social Science Association on the 11th ult., was a marvel of length and ability; on the night of the 12th he took part in the anniversary proceedings of the Bradford Mechanics' Institute; on the 13th he paid Sheffield a visit, and delivered speeches marked by his wonted fire and vigor; and the same night he was one of the speakers at a workingmen's meeting at Bradford.

—At the recent Peace Congress held under the auspices of the Rev. Andreas B. Smolnikar at Peace Union Centre, in Perry County, Pa., six miles west of Millerstown, a solemn declaration was adopted to the effect that the Spirits have decided to re-elect James Buchanan President of the United States. Good.

Jorje W. Jones, alias George W. Jones.

Yea, verily, Jones! The Honorable Jones! Not to speak it profanely, George W. Jones! Or, rather to speak it in the dialect of the Gaceta Official, of the 31st of August, 1859, (said Gaceta being printed at Bogota,) under the august heading of "Presentation del Ministro de los Estados Unidos"—"Honorable Sir Jeneral Jorje W. Jones, nombra to por el Gobierno de los Estados Unidos Ministro Residente cerca de la Confederacion." Reader, Jones! Jones, reader! Jones and reader, we wish you joy of this new acquaintance! Many and wonderful have been, in foreign parts, the representatives of our happy Republic, and many and complimentary have been our motives of their toils, triumphs, tribulations, struggles and public agonies. But the Hon. Sr. Jeneral Jorje W. Jones, to use a vulgar but by no means diplomatically dignified expression, did, on the 31st of August, "beat the crowd." Appearing before the Senor Presidente—we trust in an exceedingly rich, new and highly gold-buttoned uniform—the Honorable Sr. Jeneral Jorje W. Jones made one of the finest speeches ever articulated in Bogota, either upon the 31st of August or any other day. One who well knows our hearty love of genuine eloquence, has sent us a copy of that speech. After a careful perusal thereof, we are prepared to extend to Sir Jeneral Jorje W. assurances of our distinguished consideration. In other words the Senor J. W. is "one of them." Jones, your hand! The world shall know of your eloquence, O gifted, honey tongued Jorje W. Jones! For in the difficult art of diplomatic rhetoric, we do not know your equal, Jones! How great are you Jones in the science of "rubbing it in"—the soap, we mean, Jones. How you rubbed it into the Envoy of New Granada near the august person of S. E. James Buchanan, Residente de los Estados Unidos—how you pronounced the said Envoy—the Jeneral Pedro Alcantara Herran—to be excelente (excellent), fidelisimo (most faithful), habil (useful), y distinguido (and distinguished.) O, Jones can do it when he tries. And he tried. And he did it.—N. Y. Tribune.

Jefferson on Judiciary.

[From the Louisville Journal.]

The Washington States has changed its tactics from Exeter Hall, and is now trying to get up a panic on the ground that all the judges of the Supreme Court may die, and an Opposition President have the appointment of their successors. The States certainly cannot sniff treason in this. Does it want to resort to the old tricks of Federalism, which were denounced by Jefferson in his letter to John Dickinson, from Washington City, under date of December 19, 1801? Democracy was called Republicanism then, and here, if it wants to see how the apostle respected, revered, and did honor to the Supreme Court, let it read this tirade:

WASHINGTON, Dec., 19 1801.

DEAR SIR: My great anxiety at present is to avail ourselves of our ascendency to establish good principles and good practices; to fortify Republicanism behind as many barriers as possible, that the outworks may give time to rally and save the citadel, should that be again in danger. On their part, they have retired into the Judiciary as a strong hold. There the remains of Federalism are to be preserved and fed from the treasury, and from that battery all the works of Republicanism are to be beaten down and erased. By a fraudulent use of the Constitution, which has made judges irremovable, they have multiplied useless judges merely to strengthen their phalanx.

THOMAS JEFFERSON.

[From the Indianapolis Journal.]

An Elopement from Indianapolis.

A daughter of one of our most fashionable boarding house keepers took measures on last Wednesday evening to find the man she loved and unite with him in marriage, in opposition to the will of her parents. The circumstances, as near as we can learn them, are as follows: The gentleman in the case is Mr. C. J. Shawver, a very worthy man of about thirty years old, who made all the arrangements for the elopement, and, by the assistance of friends, carried it to a successful issue. On Wednesday he went to Louisville by the 10:10 A. M. train, and waited the arrival of the bride elect. In the evening, about dark, the expectant bride took a carriage and proceeded to Franklin, and on the arrival of the cars which leave this city at 11:20 P. M., she proceeded to Louisville, and was received by her future husband at an early hour yesterday morning. By this time the parties are married, made happy, and two hearts caused to beat as one.

In the evening of Wednesday the Union depot was watched by the young lady's father until the last midnight train departed, in hope of finding his daughter who, he feared, intended taking a step in life which he opposed. But his careful guarding was useless. The plan to frustrate his purposes had been too well arranged, and while he watched the departing trains and became satisfied that his daughter had not left the city in any of them, she was quietly awaiting in Franklin the arrival of the cars in which the old gentleman was sure she had not taken passage. He had missed her from his house soon after supper, and commenced a search for her whereabouts, but it was all of no avail.

The Railway Builders.

The death of the second Stephenson forcibly brings to mind the triumph of himself and his iron-willed father in the building of railroads and locomotives. Thirty years ago, on the 6th day of October, 1829, the first decisive trial of the use of a motive power in the shape of a steam driven carriage, took place about nine miles from Liverpool, toward Manchester, on the track newly laid between those cities for the drawing of heavy freight by horse power, by stationary steam power, or, as the Stephensons contended might be done, by a motive steam power called a locomotive. Four engines made by different persons were tried on that day, and one made by Robert Stephenson, called the Rocket, succeeded. Its speed varied from eleven and a half miles per hour to twenty-nine miles per hour, and the minds of the wavering directors of the road were determined in its favor. It is true that one or two short mining railroads had been worked by locomotive engines for a year or two previous to this time, engines more rudely constructed by the elder Stephenson, and which had not yet settled the question with the public whether rapid carriage of general freights could be so accomplished or not. But this trial was decisive, and the Stephensons won the prize of £500 offered for a successful locomotive, and fixed an era in the progress of the world.

It would scarcely be believed that we are but thirty years from the founding of the almost exclusive mode of travel and transportation on land. There were men who struggled for the improvement of the means of locomotion earlier, and one, Oliver Evans, drove through the streets of Philadelphia with a steam carriage in the winter of 1803–4, in the presence of twenty thousand spectators. Before even the elder Stephenson emerged from obscurity, this earnest American built and drove his steam carriage along our streets and prophesied to the incredulous public, who would not help him build his road, that that generation would use canals, the next railroads with horses, and the third generation from this time would ride solely in carriages drawn by steam. The prophecy is fulfilled. We have forgotten Evans; we have buried the second and the last Stephenson, honoring these because they beat out our unbelief in our own times. But we have not yet learned to recognize the builders of our own age, nor the great truth that advancement is constant and inevitable, and that irresistible forces are at work to do more than Evans dreamed or the brawny Stephenson performed.—Philadelphia Press.

TO THE BEDRUGGED AND POISONED CITIZENS OF CHICAGO.
You are overrun with a deluge of the vilest compounds in the form of "ALCOHOLIC DRINKS"
that ever emanated from that pest of society, the Liquor Mixer.
They are sold to you as a luxury, or they are dispensed to you as a medicine, and in either case the effect is the same.
There is but one way to escape, and that is to use as a luxury or a medicine, a safe and reliable stimulant, sold under stamp and seal, which renders it certain that it has not been tampered with. Such an article is Charles' London Cordial Gin.
Which is distilled under inspection of the British Government, is deliciously flavored (unlike any other Gin) with some of the most valuable restoratives of the
VEGETABLE KINGDOM,
And is by far the most healthy beverage extant.
The most eminent physicians of Europe and America, not only recommend its use by the hale and hearty, but prescribe it as a medicine where a stimulant is required.
The female sex will find it not only a pleasant
CORDIAL,
But a certain relief in sufferings of a periodical character.
Analytical chemists of all ranks pronounce it perfectly pure, and its restorative merits incomparable.
Sold only in quart and pint bottles by all Druggists, Grocers, etc. FENTON & CO.,

Special Notices.

☞ Even those who are in the enjoyment of perfect health frequently have need to have recourse to tonics as preventatives of disease. We are never too well armed against the assaults of "the ills that flesh is heir to." Such an invigorator they may find in Hostetter's Bitters—a medicine that cannot be taken regularly without giving vitality and elasticity to the system. At this season particularly the strongest man is not proof against the malaria in certain sections of the country. In all cases of fever and ague the Bitters is more potent than any amount of quinine, while the most dangerous cases of billious fever yield to its wonderful properties. Those who have tried the medicine will never use another, for any of the ailments which the Hostetter Bitters professes to subdue. To those who have not made the experiment we cordially recommend an early application to the Bitters, whenever they are stricken by disease of the digestive organs.

Sold by Druggists and dealers generally everywhere. oc20-2w-d&w

☞ Fact Number One.—That Christadoro's Excelsior Dye has recently been analyzed by Dr. Chilton, the first Chemist in America. He pronounces the Dye absolutely harmless to the Hair and Skin.

FACT NUMBER TWO.

The Excelsior Dye is instantaneous in its effects; produces the identical color, which is indistinguishable from that of nature; and actually strengthens and invigorates the hair. This fact is established by competent affidavits.

FACT NUMBER THREE.

The sales of the Dye have increased two hundred per cent. in one year, and every respectable druggist and hair dresser finds it necessary to keep it as a standard article. Sold everywhere, and applied by all Hair Dressers. Cristadoro, No. 6 Astor House, New York. oc14-1md&w

☞ Moffat's Life Pills and Phœnix Bitters, by increasing the quantity of life and vigor in every part of the system, enable nature to make incredible efforts for the expulsion of disease before organic distruction begins. It is thus that in a very short space of time they cure colds, coughs, rheumatism, flatulence, pains in the stomach, cholic, and nervous disorders in all their forms. But their superior excellence is in affections of the stomach, in female complaints, and the sufferings of enfeebled youth. For sale by Dr. W. B. MOFFAT, Proprietor, 335 Broadway, New York, and by all druggists. oc26x3m

☞ Those who are Curious to witness the wonderful perfection to which A. Ohswaldt (late manager at Batchelor's, N. Y.) has brought the manufacture of Wigs and Toupees, are invited to visit his Wig and Hair Dying Rooms, at No. 100 Lake street, and examine these curious productions of art. No scrutiny can detect the artificial from the natural when adjusted to the head. del-ly

COURAGE.

BY ALICE CAREY.

Knowing the right and true,
Let the world say to you
Worst that it can;
Answer despite the shame,
I'll not be by my name—
I'll be a man!

Armed only with the right,
Standing alone to fight
Wrong, old and base,
Holding unhasting to God
Over the rack and rod—
Over the crime and rod,
That is sublime!

Monarchs of old, at will
Paced the world, but still
Crowns may be won:
Yet there are pilgrims tonight—
Putting all fear to flight,
Shouting for truth and right,
Who will mount on?

The Snail Mania in Paris—Eccentricities of French Diet.

[Correspondence of the Boston Traveller.]

PARIS, Sept. 29.—Snails are crawling down more and more throats here annually. Ten years ago, nobody but apothecaries and herb doctors' shops, and a little dirty, dingy restaurant in the Rue Saint Honore kept them, and now they have a place of their own at the great markets, and the restaurateur that does not keep them is decidedly "slow." A million and a half snails crawl down our throats every season; at Dijon alone they bring 1f. 50c. per hundred, and 6,000f. worth are sold, which every Frenchman vow, by their cocker and other reckoners, are equal in aliment to one hundred and fifty ordinary calves—don't ask me, please, for the equation. Snails have one great virtue in the Papist's eyes; when you can eat nothing else, you may fill yourself full of snails, until you feel like an anaconda after he swallowed an ox, without breaking your fast or ceasing to mortify your flesh and Old Nick. Snails are "fish" in Papists' dictionaries. Apicus gives an excellent receipe for cooking them. We eat them (now that the Saint Honore restaurant has joined Troy) cooked on the spider or in an oven after they have been boiled in their shell and seasoned with fresh butter and parsley chopped fine. They cause great ravages in vineyards, and cure the consumption in man. In 1856 they did more damage in Lower Charente vineyards than the odium, and no way is known by which they can be driven from vineyards and orchards except by removing them forcibly and eating them with fresh butter and chopped parsley, after the "spider" has given them a "shake down."

Michelet, in his book on insects, quoted with eulogy the public spirit of a French professor at Rouen, who came into his lecture room one day bearing in one hand a white porcelain soup plate filled with cockroaches, lice and chinches. "Messieurs," said the patriot, "these insects have for centuries preyed upon man; let us prey upon them." Following Hamlet's advice, he suited the action to the word, and commenced devouring them; cockroach, louse and chinch were tossed into his mouth and crunched to pieces with professional adroitness. He vowed they were delightful; the cockroach had the flavor, if I remember rightly, of sandwich, trout and pine apple; the louse smacked of truffled patridge (beneficent louse, to come ready truffled to your lips!), and the chinch was just like ripe venison and plover married by Soyer and put to bed in some rich thick sauce. What an epicure "poor Tom" was.

How Louis Napoleon Wooed but did not Win.

It may be interesting, says the Home Journal, to republish the following extract from a conversation with Fenimore Cooper, in 1855, recorded at the time by Mr. Willis, then in Paris:

"I was calling upon Lafayette one day (said Mr. Cooper) and was let in by his confidential servant, who, it struck me, showed signs of having something to conceal. He said his master was at home, and, after a minute's hesitation, made way for me to go on, as usual, to his private room—but I saw there was some embarrassment. I walked in and found the General alone. He inquired with some eagerness who let me in, and whether I met an old acquaintance going out. I told him that his servant had admitted me, and that there was something peculiar in the man's manner; but as I had seen no one else, I knew nothing more.

"'Ah,' said the General, 'that fellow put him in the side room. Sit down and I will tell you. Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte was here two minutes ago!'

"I expressed my surprise, of course, for this was in '33, when it was death for a Bonaparte to enter France.

"'Yes,' continued the General, 'and he came with a proposition. He wishes to marry my granddaughter, Clementine, unite the Republicanists and Imperialists, and make himself Emperor and make my granddaughter Empress!'

"'And, if it be not an indecent question,' I said, 'what was your answer, my dear General?'

"'I told him,' said Lafayette, 'that my family had the American notion on that subject, and chose husbands for themselves—that there was the young lady—he might go court her, and if she liked him, I had no objection.'

Mr. Cooper did not tell us, for of course he did not know, how the Prince plied his wooing, nor why he failed. The fair Clementine, who thus, possibly, lost her chance of being an Empress, married M. de Beaumont, and now represents her rejected admirer as the French Embassadress at the Court of Austria. Shortly after this visit to Lafayette, Mr. Cooper was in London, and mentioned to the Princess (the widow of the elder brother of the President of France) this venture of Prince Louis into the den of the Orleanists. "He is mad!" was the only reply.

Pilgrim's Progress Alleged to be a Plagiarism.

[From the New York Post.]

The Courier des Etats Unis of yesterday contains the following singular announcement under the head of Faits Divers:

"There is not in Great Britain a more remarkable book than 'Pilgrim's Progress.' It is a sort of Telemachus of Protestant religious literature, and is more highly esteemed by the English than Fenelon's chef d'œuvre. Hitherto this work has been attributed to John Bunyan. But a young woman, named Catherine Isabella Cart, has just published in London a translation of an old French manuscript in the British Museum, which is almost word for word, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. The manuscript is the work of a clergyman, G. de Grideville, who lived in the fifteenth century. Its title in Norman English, is Pylgremage of the Sowle. The printer, Caxton, who occupied the same position in England as the Etiennes in Paris, published in 1843 a translation of this manuscript, of which the authenticity appears incontestible. It would seem, therefore, that the credit of this celebrated work belongs to France, although France hitherto has shown less appreciation of the original than England has bestowed upon the copy."

So far the French Journalist.

We know nothing of the authority on which this statement, which looks like a canard, is founded; but if the story should happen to be true, it will create no little hubbub in the literary world.

English Investments in the U. S.

The London Times, in its City Article of the 14th ult., commenting on the difficulties encountered by Englishmen in search of investments, says:

"America, which might at this juncture have afforded the most suitable field for the enjoyment of British capital, to the advantage not merely of the two countries, but of the world, is at present not to be seriously named as a competitor for our financial confidence. Her speculative securities were thought a year or two ago to have reached the point of greatest disfavor, but the past twelve months have shown that such was not the case. New York writers will probably attribute this to any but the right cause, yet they will scarcely attempt to demonstrate that British capitalists, to whom national prejudices is little known when the safe acquisition of an extra one or two per cent. interest is in question have ever manifested any want of credulity so long as even credulity could hold on. Canadian investments, owing to the latest experiences of the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railway lines, are not much removed from the ordinary American category."

The Times concludes: "That no outlet of any magnitude for our superabundent means is likely for some time to offer itself, and that Consols and ordinary Railway stock, must continue in increased demand until the commercial prosperity of the country takes a turn, or new signs of war create alarm, or prices have attained the mania point, when the public, now so discreet, will rush into any novel imposture that may be concluded for them."

A Wealthy Man.

The New York correspondent of the New Orleans Crescent gives the following description of George Law:

If anything don't pay, George Law respectfully drops it. He now owns nine-tenths of the Eighth avenue Railroad, which alone is an income of a prince, and growing more valuable every day. He also owns nearly all the stock of the Ninth-avenue, which, when completed, will run from the Battery through Greenwich street to the Ninth-avenue, and thence to Harlem river—a nine mile concern. Half the ferries belong to Law. He owns the Dry Dock Bank, and the bank owns about forty acres of docks, houses and land, almost in the heart of the city. Law owns the Staten Island Ferry boats, and two miles of water front nearest New York, that in a few years will be worth for docks, ten millions. He really owns the Flushing Railroad, and heaven knows how much more he owns. That immense thinking brain keeps accumulating. I don't think he goes into large operations now for the purpose of making money. I think he works to keep from stagnating. Though not a politician, he wields a very powerful influence upon politics, especially upon local affairs. Most persons have an idea that he is an old man. No such thing. He is only fifty-one years old, and possesses one of those vigorous constitutions that will last him forty-nine years longer.

Interesting to the Clergy.

The Cincinnati Commercial informs the public that no less than four pastors are wanted for as many leading churches in that city, and gives a hint as to the season, which may apply to other cities besides the "Queen of the West." Every congregation wants a Whitfield or a Chalmers, but not every one is able or willing to pay for such a rarity:

"At the present time the pulpits of four prominent churches in this city are vacant, viz: that of the 7th Presbyterian Church, on Broadway; Second Disciples' Church, on Sixth, between Smith and Mound; the Second Presbyterian Church, on Fourth, between Vine and Race streets, and St. John's (Episcopal) Church. Among the notable facts of our current local church history is the difficulty realized in procuring ministers who are equal to the standard of intellectual and spiritual excellence desired, we might say demanded, by the people. The chief difficulty in the way seems to be a disinclination on the part of our people to pay salaries proportionable with those paid in Eastern cities for the grade of ability in request here, and secondly, the scarcity of the sort of material wanted."

How Mr. Beecher Came into the Church.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher lectured on Tuesday evening to an immense audience—a perfect jam—in his own church, in Brooklyn, on "The Bargain Makers," in the "Plymouth Course." The edifice was thronged in every part. He was introduced by Mr. Theodore Tilton, of the Independent, with the following remarks. Mr. Tilton said:

"The lecturer insists upon being introduced, (Laughter.) This, I suppose, is from natural modesty. (Laughter.) Yet, perhaps I ought to say a word explanatory, in order that he may not come before you as a perfect stranger. I would therefore state that he is from Litchfield, Connecticut, and is a minister's son. (Laughter.) Now minister's sons, you know, are proverbially disinclined to follow the good examples of their fathers. So I will tell you a queer story, that I heard the other day from Litchfield. By the side of an old house in that old town, there stood a birch tree, which, when it had reached the height of the second story, put forth, one spring, a branch that grew through an open window into the room. The window of the airy chamber was not shut down, and the tree was allowed to grow; until at last a robin came and built a nest in the bough, inside the house!

"Now, as I am incredibly informed, a prominent early branch of the Beecher family was the branch of birch—(laughter)—introduced, I believe, on the father's side! (Great laughter.) At all events, it has been hinted that it was the birch that first brought our friend into the church. (Applause and laughter.) But having been thus vigorously coaxed in, he found the church so good a place that he built his nest in it, and has been singing there like a robin ever since! I will only add further, that he has been for some time past, preaching in this neighborhood, with a view to a call and settlement in a new church on Montague Heights!" (Great laughter.)

Mr. Beecher was then received with loud applause, and retorted by saying, that Mr. Tilton himself would lecture in Brooklyn next week, and that he (Mr. B.) would like to be present to introduce him. (Laughter.)

Keep Your Eye on Your Neighbors.

Take care of them. Don't let them stir without watching. They may do something wrong if you do. To be sure you never know them to do anything very bad, but it may be on your account they have not. Perhaps if it had not been for your kind care, they might have disgraced themselves and families, a long time ago. Therefore, don't relax any effort to keep them where they ought to be; never mind your own business, that will take care of itself. There is a man passing along—he is looking over the fence—be suspicious of him, perhaps he contemplates stealing something some of these dark nights; theres no knowing what queer fancies he may have got into his head. If you see any symptoms of any one passing out of the path of duty, tell every one else that you can see, and be particular to see a great many. It is a good way to circulate such things, and though it may not benefit yourself, or any one else particularly, it will be something important about some one else. Do keep something going—silence is a dreadful thing; though it is said there was silence in Heaven for the space of half an hour, don't let any such thing occur on earth; it would be too much like Heaven for the inhabitants of this mundane sphere. If, after all your watchful care, you can't see anything out of the way in any one, you may be sure it is not because they have not done anything bad; perhaps in an unguarded moment you lost sight of them—throw out hints that they are no better than they should be—that you should not wonder if people found out what they were after a while, and then they may not carry their heads so high. Keep it a going, and some one will take the hint and begin to help you after a while—then there will be music, and everything will work to a charm.

SOMETHING NEW!!! MITCHELL'S PATENT Metallic Tipped Boot and Shoe.

An improvement has been applied to Boots and Shoes, by which a Great Saving in Expense is made. Every Boot and Shoe Dealer knows that Children will wear out at the toe the best constructed shoe in four to six weeks, and that it has hitherto defied the skill of manufacturers to obviate this difficulty.

THE "METALLIC TIP,"

meets and overcomes it. A small piece of copper is neatly fastened to the toe of the Boot or Shoe affording a complete protection to it, and rendering the efforts of the most inveterate stamper ineffectual to kick or wear it out.

We present this invention with the fullest knowledge of and experience in its Practical Utility. Having now for nearly two years been subjected to the severest tests, it has by its own intrinsic merits, actually surmounted every objection that could possibly be brought against it, as the accompanying certificates, which are but a fair average of hundreds of others will abundantly corroborate. We have no hesitation in saying that the Metallic-Tipped Shoe is destined to entirely supercede, for Children and Youth, the old style; and we consider it a moderate statement, that one pair of the Metallic Tips will outlast two to three pairs of the old style, making a saving of nearly two thirds in the expense of shoes.

MESSRS. WADSWORTH AND WELLS, OF CHICAGO,

Have been appointed Agents for the sale of the Boots and Shoes and are authorized to dispose of Town and County Rights.

Communications addressed to them or the undersigned will receive proper attention. CHAS. MCKINNEY & CO., 46 and 50 Water st. Boston, Mass.

N. B.—This invention is a complete protection from the cutting of the Prairie Grass and is especially adapted to Miners use, and all occupations which part cularly expose the toe of the boot or shoe to being cut or worn. ja29-d1-1y

The Trial of Capt. John Brown.

CHARLESTOWN, Oct. 31.—The Court met at 9 o'clock this A. M. The prisoner was brought in and the trial proceeded without delay. Brown looks better than heretofore, and his health is evidently improving. He laid on the bed as usual.

The Court House and its approaches were densely crowded. Mr. Griswold opened for the defense, taking up the several charges of the indictment, replying to the points made in the opening argument of the prosecution. He alluded to the peculiar circumstances surrounding the present case and hoped the jury would give it a calm and dispassionate attention. Divesting as far as possible their minds from all prejudice, and disregarding outside influences, let the prisoner have an impartial trial under the laws of Virginia, and let him be acquitted or convicted according to those laws and the evidence given in the case. With regard to the charge of treason brought against the prisoner, Mr. G. argued that Brown could not be guilty of treason, as he was not a citizen of this Commonwealth, and none but a citizen of the Commonwealth could commit treason. Never having sworn allegiance to Virginia, he could not be a rebel against her authority.

He was also charged with levying war against the State, but the evidence given did not support the charge. There was a great difference between levying war and resisting authority by men who are congregated together to perpetrate crime, and have their rules and regulations when they are assailed. They defend their lives to the utmost, sacrificing their own and intending to sacrifice the lives of others, but that is resisting, not levying war.

He would not shrink from the admission, and the prisoner had openly admitted it, that those men came for the purpose of running away slaves. That was a crime under the laws of Virginia, for which the prisoner was answerable to punishment to the extent of those laws. In carrying out that purpose, he temporarily took possession of the Arsenal at Harper's Ferry, and while there attempts were made to arrest him.

Mr. G. had no complaint to make about that, but it was in resisting these attempts that this blood was shed and the lives taken, and not in levying war against the State. It was in resisting that which was claimed to be the legal authority of seeking to arrest these men in violation of law, which things have often happened. Jails have been broken open and men taken thence and executed in defiance of law after being acquitted by a jury of their countrymen, and the power of the Sheriff trampled under foot. Neither does it constitute the levying of war if murder ensues, because the commission of the offence of shedding blood may not have been contemplated. It is said there was an organized government; a pamphlet is referred to as evidence of that fact, but it does not necessarily follow that the overthrow of the Commonwealth of Virginia was contemplated by anything that appeared in that book. The most harmless organizations in the country have been created with all the outside forms and machinery of government. In Debating Societies governments have been established. Congress enacted resolutions and laws, discussed them, and any one reading the bulletin of these associations, knowing nothing about them, would suppose them miniature governments, organized within the limits of the existing government; no matter what names, or what officers they may have, that of itself is not sufficient: Bands of robbers or desperadoes have their rules and regulations and their officers, and prescribe death as the punishment for a violation of their laws; but that don't imply that they contemplate the overthrow of the legitimate government. It is only an association or government to control themselves in their intercourse with each other. He further argued that the jury could not find Brown guilty of treason unless they find him guilty of associating with others to organize a government to subvert and overthrow the government of Virginia; but if the pamphlet proves anything, it shows that an attempt was made to organize a government in opposition to that of the United States and not of Virginia, for all the officers appointed have reference to a government like that of the United States; but it was vague, unmeaning language, which really proves nothing at all. However, there was a clause which must be taken notice of, for it was all the evidence. He referred to the distinct and positive statement that it contemplated no overthrow of the State government, but simply the repeal and amendment of obnoxious laws in a constitutional manner.

The learned Attorney who opened the case seemed to occupy this ground entirely, not even going over the evidence wherein the treason was proved. He said the prisoner was guilty of giving aid and comfort to the enemies of the Commonwealth, and that was the only specification he made charging the defendant with treason. He was surprised to hear that gentleman burst forth in such a sublime apostrophe to freedom, in terms, and language, and with action of such surprising eloquence that no one need be told that he received inspiration in the land that urns the ashes of Patrick Henry. He alluded to his distinguished associate for the prosecution, who had brought into his remarks the dishevelled tresses of a frightened beauty. He proceeded to consider the charge of conspiring with slaves. He said there was a manifest distinction between the effort to run off slaves, or steal slaves, and conspiracy to induce them to rebel. Rebellion and insurrection was rising up, not to run away, although freedom might be the ultimate object, but rising up against the masters, against the whites, against the State. It contemplates riot, rapine, murder, and all the crimes which follow insurrection, and more especially servile insurrection, the question was as to the object and intention. Has any man testified aught going to show that Brown, or any one with him, said or did one thing to induce any slaves to rise in rebellion, or perpetrate any offence out of which rebellion grows. The slaves were taken possession of for a temporary purpose, and placed in the arsenal; but Col. Washington, who knew more about it than any other witness, testified that not a slave took part in the matter except Phil, who, at the suggestion of the prisoner, attempted to drill a port hole, and that was not done for the purpose of insurrection and rebellion, but for protection. True, they were engaged in an unlawful act, but not the act charged. They are amenable to punishment, but not as indicated. They are punishable in some way, but not as charged.

Theirs is not a capital offence. He here proceeded to consider the Court charging murder in the first degree. This was a crime involving premeditated murders, but he argued that no such malice had been shown. 1st—Haywood was killed. How it happened nobody knows. It was done in the dark, whether by accident or intention does not appear in the evidence, or by whom—perhaps these men are guilty of that killing in some form, but it is not proved to be murder in the first degree. The result of deliberate, premeditated malice, he could only say as Brown said to him, Why should we shoot a negro? That was not our object. He did not justify these men in slaying these and resisting the authority of the country, but he said they were protecting themselves from arrest. Guns were fired in all directions, and they fired or intended to fire only on armed men. Without excusing that conduct for one moment, he would remark, to refute the idea of premeditated malice, that they had not the time for thought and reflection which the law contemplates, not that he would say these men should be allowed to sin against the Commonwealth of Virginia and perpetrate these crimes and go unwhipped of justice, but charge and convict them according to the law. Virginia has laws and institutions sufficient for her protection. She has thrown over the lives of her citizens every safeguard she deems necessary and essential; has made laws necessary for the protection of her property and the punishment of those who deprive their owners of it. It is the boast of our institutions that no man can be punished beyond what the laws require, and if the law is not severe enough, within the legislature rests the proper remedy. Brown knew that he was committing an offence against slave property. He has repeatedly confessed it, and is willing to abide the consequences, but indict him for that offence, and don't convict him of an offence he never dreamed of committing. Nothing in the circumstances of this case demands such a course of procedure. Public safety don't require him to be punished contrary to the law; if a man of indomitable energy and perseverance; if Brown could be engaged five months in prosecuting such an enterprise and only gather throughout the U. S. twenty-one men, black and white, when there was nothing in the world to oppose him, how in Heaven's name can it be supposed that with him and all his companions struck down, the South aroused and every body on the alert watching enterprises of this kind, that there is the remotest danger that another scheme akin to this will be started. It was hardly necessary to make these remarks.—The duty of the jury is to be blind to all outside prejudices. The physical courage of those who supported this insurrection has been highly commended, but the moral courage is superior, that which can resist prejudice and passion, let simple justice be meted out to the prisoner. He asked no more. He called on the jury to preserve the sanctity of their oaths in tacit honor untarnished, and the reputation of the Commonwealth for justice, magnanimity and chivalry will be sustained.

Mr. Griswold closed by saying on behalf of his client, that he had no exceptions to take to a particle of the evidence given on trial, but deemed it a wonder under the circumstances that truth should even as fully be developed as it has been; he bore honorable testimony, especially to Capt. Sinn, who voluntarily came from another State for the simple purpose of doing justice.

Mr. Chilton spoke of the embarrassment with which he undertook the case. He intended to do his duty faithfully, and had come to deal with the prisoner, not as Capt. Brown, leader of this foray, but simply as a prisoner under the charge of violating the law; if that law did not warrant his conviction he should endeavor to make that appear to the jury, still he would say he had no sympathy with the prisoner. His birth and residence until within a few years had been in Virginia. In connection with the institution of slavery, although now a resident of the District of Columbia, he had returned to his native State to spend the remainder of his days and mingle his dust with her soil. No other motive operated in him than disinterested duty. He regretted the excitement respecting this case, he was glad to hear the Judge say on Saturday that he desired to try this case precisely like others. He desired, the whole State and the whole South desired the trial should be fair. It had been fair; circumstances had interrupted its progress, counsel were here without proper preparation, but indulgences had been granted and they made no complaint. They should do the best they could under the circumstances. He could not complain felt the excitement, it was natural. He hoped it would not interfere with the course of justice or cast a stain on the honor of the State. The jury had sworn they were unbiased, he presumed they would firmly discharge their oaths, in bringing in a verdict. He could not understand from the opening of the prosecution on what ground these charges against the prisoner were attempted to be sustained. The Commonwealth Attorney indulged in a strain of abuse of the prisoner, and pronounced sentence on him without waiting the verdict of the jury, thus usurping the place of the Judge. There were three distinct charges. First, of Treason. This was an offence of common law. The word is derived from a French word, signifying telegraph, treason means betrayal of trust or confidence. The violation of fidelity, or all allegiance to the Commonwealth. He maintained that treason could not be committed except by the citizens thereof, in the present case the whole proof shows this prisoner was not a citizen of Va., therefore he cannot be found guilty of treason. The indictment charges the prisoner with committing every act comprising every act of treason. They are charged with levying war against the State and exciting slaves to insurrection, but there was no proof that they committed these acts as charged. There was no proof that they resisted any process issued against them under the authority of the Commonwealth; they were rather guilty of resistance to the Federal Government, not the Commonwealth. He had read carefully the prepared provisional constitution. He regarded it as ridiculous nonsense, a wild, chimerial production. It could only have been produced by men of unsound mind. It defines a territory over which it is intended to operate, and says, we do establish the following provisional government. What is it? It is an association or co-partnership. They are to own property by it and regulate terms. It did not contemplate a government, but merely a voluntary association to abolish slavery. It did not even undertake to lay taxes, which is essential to any government. It does not appear that this association was to be established in Virginia, or when it was to go into effect. This was not treason. Is it the adoption of a Constitution for the establishment of a government? By no means. These parties had mere imaginary government to govern themselves and nobody else, just like the ruler governing a military company or debating society, even if they intend to set up a government over another. They did not do it. There was a general principle that the accused should have the benefit of every doubt. In considering evidence we must consider the whole of it. We must take the declarations of the prisoner in his own favor as well as against himself. Now look at the 46th article of this Provisional constitution, which expressly declares the foregoing article shall not be construed to encourage the overthrow of any State government or General government, and look to no dissolution of the Union, but simply amendment and repeal of certain laws. This was evidence before the jury being submitted by the prosecution. The prisoner is charged with conspiracy, with slaves to make an insurrection; no proof had been shown that the slaves entered into the conspiracy. One party cannot conspire alone. Each charge is to be considered alone by the jury, if they believe that the evidence does not warrant a conviction for treason they must consider the charge of conspiracy just as if no charge of treason had been made—one count in the indictment was not to be brought out. He considered the prisoner had a right to be tried on one charge at a time and entirely disconnected with any other. The Court had, however, overruled the motion on Saturday, and hence the importance of making this point to the jury so that they might not confuse the various offences and the evidence relating to each. Next as to murder. It was a very singular way of drawing up an indictment. Five prisoners are charged with the murder of four men; that they might have jointly done it he could understand, but that they could severally have done it he could not; he declared it was almost impossible for the prisoner to make a defense against such a charge. It was too loose and vague, by the laws of Virginia; there was but the specific murder punishable as a capital crime, and that was deliberate, premeditated murder.

Mr. Hunter closed the argument for the prosecution.

Additional Foreign News by the Nova Scotian.

FARTHER POINT, October 29.—The India and China mails from Calcutta, September 9th, and Hong Kong, August 24th, had reached England. The news is mainly anticipated by telegraph, but the letters give additional details. Mr. Ward, the American minister, was courteously received at Pekin. The news of his arrival at Pekin was brought to Shanghai by a Russian gun-boat, but no letters were received from him. It was reported that he would be at Shanghai about the end of August, and that he expected to be able to send home the ratified treaty by the following mail.

The London Times correspondent regards the reception of Mr. Ward as a most polite stroke of the Pekin Cabinet, but it does not at all remove the treachery to the British minister.

The Friend of China states that, as the American treaty gives the United States liberty to tender their good offices in any difficulty with the western powers, Mr. Ward will soon have an opportunity of testing the virtues of this clause.

Gen. Mourariff, Governor of the Russian territories on the river Amoor, had arrived at the Pei-Ho, and special messengers were sent to Pekin to acquaint the Russian minister. The Russians, apparently, had a perfect understanding with the Chinese.

Order was re-established at Shanghai. Three officers, who lost their vessels at the Pei-Ho, had been tried by court martial and acquitted.

The negotiations of the French in Cochin China had made so much progress that the French Admiral had sent a reinforcement of troops and gun boats to Canton.

Advices from Japan state that the British Consul had made no progress in respect to the currency question. Trade, consequently, was in abeyance.

The American sloop-of-war Germantown was at Japan. The steamer Mississippi was at Shanghai, and the Powhatan and Toywan at the Gulf of Pechali.

The authorities at Pekin are represented as ready to receive the British Minister on friendly terms. Meanwhile the Indian government had been applied to for 15,000 troops for China, and two regiments were under orders to depart.

The London Times states that the terms of the Zurich treaty are identical with those agreed to at Villafranca, and that peace is one of the questions which disquieted Italy and Europe seems settled.

The Morning Post says that, assuming its information to be correct, the further proposal concerning the question left open, which it is intended to submit to the approval of the Congress, is of such a nature that the diplomatists of Zurich have only heaped up materials for fresh difficulties. England can and will take no part in any Congress of which the first principle be not the recognition of the rights of the Romagnese and Tuscans, no less than the Modense and Parmesan States to self-government. The first cannon shot fired to force on the people of Romagna, Modena and Tuscany, any other rulers than the Italian Prince, in whom they so fondly put their their trust, will be the signal of a conflict as deadly as the one just brought to a close.

A letter from Florence details the grounds on which the Exequatur of the American Consul at Leghorn, Mr. Joseph Binda, was withdrawn. It is asserted that he busied himself greatly for the restoration of the dethroned Princess, of whom he was a warm partizan. Binda is directly taxed with having recommended certain Republicans to proclaim a Republic, while at the same time he was exerting himself for the Princess, and the inference is that he sought to raise a pretext for armed intervention.

The San Juan Affair—The Harper's Ferry Trial.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Intelligent gentlemen, who have just arrived here from the Pacific coast, say that the people there will be surprised at a visit from Lieut. Gen. Scott to San Juan, as only in the Atlantic States that island has been magnified to the importance of a continent. While it belongs to the United States, and will be retained, they add, it is not really worth quarreling about, and that its value has been surprisingly over-estimated. It is certain the tone of the British Ministry on this subject is not agreeable to our Government, but an explicit declaration that Gen. Harney was not instructed to occupy the Island, and a calm and dignified explanation of all the attendant circumstances, will, it is thought, produce a better state of feeling on the part of our trans-Atlantic neighbors.

Major Magruder left Washington this P. M. for Charlestown, to join his late partner, Mr. Chilton. These gentlemen have been retained by certain parties in Boston as associate counsel for Brown. They are both Virginians by birth, and pro-slavery men, if not slaveholders, but their reputation here is such as to leave no doubt that they will faithfully and ably perform their duty.

A City Official Shot by a Reporter.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—J. Marshall Hanna, a Reporter of the Baltimore Sun, whilst in the Fire Alarm Telegraph office to-night, got into a difficulty with parties present, drew a pistol and shot Wm. S. McPhail, President of the Second Branch of City Councils, and at present acting Mayor of the city during the sickness of Mayor Swan. The ball took effect on Mr. McPhail's thigh, producing a serious wound, which may prove fatal.

SECOND DISPATCH.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31.—Acting Mayor McPhail, who was shot yesterday P. M., at the Police Telegraph office, by Mr. Hanna, reporter of the Sun, is very seriously injured. It is feared his temporal artery is wounded. He is somewhat easier this morning. He exonerates Hanna from all direct blame. It appears that Hanna and Operator Harcourt had some words; the former drew a pistol, and Harcourt grabbed it, and in the struggle it exploded, with the result as related. Mr. McPhail says the pistol was in the hands of Harcourt when the shot was fired.

The newly elected Council have been called together to choose a President, who will become acting Mayor during the indisposition of Mayor Swan. The Council met this afternoon.

Political excitement is waxing warm about the State election, which is to be held on Wednesday.

From California, Arizona and New Mexico.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—The Overland Mail, with dates to the 12th inst., arrived here on Saturday night. The news is unimportant.

Business at San Francisco had slightly improved, but prices were lower. New Orleans and Muscovado Sugar sold at auction at 7@7½; Lard at auction, 10@10½.

The Arizona papers say that Col. Bonneville had given orders for an immediate campaign against the Apache Indians.

The Republican learns from Santa Fe that two mails are overdue at that place from Independence, and fears are entertained that they have been attacked by the Indians.

It is understood that Gallegos will contest Otero's seat in the next Congress.

The weather in New Mexico was cold, and the crops were severely injured.

The Overland Mail.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—The Overland mail of the 10th arrived this evening. News unimportant.

Business is extremely dull. Quotations unchanged.

About half of the town of Auburn, Placer County, burned on the 9th inst. Loss about $50,000.

Two hundred hostile Indians were captured at the head-waters of the Feather River and placed in the Mendocino Reservation.

The Harper's Ferry Insurgent at Carlisle.

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 29.—The prisoner in the jail at Carlisle, for whom a requisition was made by the Governor of Virginia, as Albert Hazlett, had a hearing before the Judge to-day, upon a writ of habeas corpus. Messrs. Miller, Sharp Shearer appeared for the prisoner, and claimed his discharge on the ground that his name was not Albert Hazlett, but William Harrison.

Several witnesses, resident at Harper's Ferry, were examined and testified positively that the prisoner was one of the persons who invaded Harper's Ferry—that they had conversed with them there, and that they recognized him now. One of the witnesses, Mr. Copeland, said that he had seen the flash of his (the prisoner's) rifle when in the act of shooting at a citizen.

None of the witnesses knew the name of the man, nor had they ever seen him before his appearance in the streets at Harper's Ferry.

N. Wates, Esq., appeared as counsel for Virginia, and asked his Honor to re-commit the prisoner, to await the requisition of the Governor of Virginia by the name he had assumed. The Court took this ground, and said, "We are clearly of the opinion that the requisition presented to us is legally and formally right, but there is no evidence that we have any man in our custody named Albert Hazlett, whom we can deliver on the requisition; but we are satisfied that a monstrous crime has been committed, that the prisoner was there and participated in it, as clearly testified to by three witnesses, and we will therefore re-commit him to await the requisition of the Governor of Virginia."

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—At the last session of the Senate, a resolution was passed requesting the President to cause the heads of the departments to submit the estimates for expenses of the Government to the next Congress, upon a basis not exceeding fifty millions annually, exclusively of the public debt and interest thereon; providing the same can be done without injury to the public service. Estimates are in course of preparation in accordance with the spirit of this resolution and with a view to strict economy; but it is not at all probable the expenditures will be restricted to such narrow limits.

Advices state that the Government of Nicaragua has every disposition to make with the United States a satisfactory transit arrangement, and that the only obstacle to this is the Belly contract, which, however, has already failed in some particulars.

No action has been taken by the Government regarding the aiders and abettors of the Harper's Ferry conspirators already captured. Should sufficient evidence against them be obtained, it is supposed that requisitions for their surrender will be made by Gov. Wise, as in the cases of Cook and Hazlet.

Ernest Clay, of the British Legation in Mexico, arrived here to-day, and immediately sought an interview with Lord Lyons.

Marine Disaster and Loss of Life.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The schooner Emerald, of Truro, Capt. Paine, foundered on Saturday evening off North Chatham Light, and all the crew, save one, were drowned. The following are the names of the lost: L. L. Paine, master; Elisha, his son; Joshua Paine, brother of Captain Paine; Richard F. Atkins, Jas. L. Dyer, and a son of Mr. A. Hopkins. The man saved is Joseph W. Knowles, who clung to the hatch and was taken off by a passing vessel.

Funeral of Mr. Mason.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 30.—The funeral of Mr. Mason, late U. S. Minister to France, took place to-day. The funeral procession was very imposing, there being a large military escort and an immense concourse of citizens. His remains were buried in the Holly-Wood Cemetery, near the tomb of President Monroe.

Escape of a Criminal.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct 31.—R. H. Champ, a very wealthy farmer of Bourbon County, who was recently sentenced to the Penitentiary for fifteen years, for rape, escaped from jail last Saturday night. Great efforts are being made to recover him. Another criminal escaped with him.

Financial and Commercial.

MONETARY.

MONDAY EVENING, Oct. 31.

The money market opened quiet to-day with no special change. The banks are supplying their produce customers freely, for thirty day bills on New York, Buffalo and Oswego, and the demand continues heavy. There seems to be an abundance of currency for every necessity.

Gold is scarce, but the demand is light. The brokers retail at two per cent. premium. Bankers do not sell, but occasionally supply customers at 1½@1¾.

Exchange is in active demand at 1¼. The amount making by shipments of produce, beef, tallow, hides and live stock is also very large.

FLOUR AND GRAIN IN STORE, OCT. 29.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Flour, brls | 4,905 | Corn, bu | 28,645 |
| Wheat, Spring, bu | 462,064 | Oats, bu | 94,757 |
| Red Winter | 46,319 | Rye, bu | 5,846 |
| White | 4,329 | Barley, bu | 72,117 |

The Wheat market to-day was less active, and declined ½@1c on Spring grades. At the opening a few lots of No. 2 Spring changed hands, at 86½@87c, but as soon as the New York and Buffalo dispatches were received the market fell to 86c, at which the great bulk of the transactions took place—closing quiet at that figure. Winter Wheat was also in less demand and Red declined 3@4c. About 70,000 bushels of all grades changed hands, at $1.10 for No. 1 White; $1.00 for No. 1 Red; 88@89c for No. 1 Spring; 86@87c for No. 2 Spring; and 82@83c for Rejected—all in store. The flour market, under the influence of an advance in railroad freights to-morrow, of 15c to New York, and 5c to Pittsburgh, declined 12½c, at which it was tolerably active. About 2,300 bbls were sold at $5.00@5.90 for White Winter; $4.62½ for Red Winter; $4.00@4.60 for low grade to choice Spring Extras; and $3.45@4.00 for Spring Superfine. New Corn was more active, though somewhat irregular in price. Under the new inspection, whereby all new corn put in store is graded "New Corn" and "Rejected New Corn," according to quality, several sales were made, at 49@54c for the former, and 48@49c for the latter. Ear Corn in good demand at 48@50c per 75 lbs on track. Old Corn very quiet, with a good inquiry for No. 2, of which several lots were sold at 72@73c in store, and No. 1 at 75c in store. Oats in good shipping demand, and market firmer. About 20,000 bushels were sold at 33½@34c for Canal afloat, and 32@32½c for No. 1 in store. Rye in large supply and market 3@4c lower, with sales at 62c for No. 1 in store, and 63½c for Canal afloat. Barley was active and advanced 2@3c, with sales of about 32,000 bushels at 61@63c for No. 1 in store—the outside figures being for straight lots in one warehouse. Timothy Seed quiet, at $2.00@2.10. Highwines heavy, with limited transactions at 24@24½c. Provisions quiet. Tallow firm at 10c. Hides ½c lower.

Freights were firm to-day. The rates were: Barley to Buffalo, 5½c by sail, and 6c by steam Wheat to Oswego, 10c; Wheat from Racine to Buffalo, 6½c; new Corn to Ogdensburgh, 10½c—shipper to run the risk of shrinkage.

ADVANCE OF INSURANCE.—To-morrow (1st November) the rates of insurance by lake, advance 1 per cent.

ADVANCE IN RAILROAD FREIGHTS.—We understand that the eastern railroads advance their rates on flour to-morrow 15c to New York, and 5c to Pittsburgh—which will make it $1.05 per bbl to New York, and 50c to Pittsburgh. This will probably prevent much flour from leaving this city by rail till the close of navigation. Last week about 27,000 bbls were shipped by rail and only about 12,000 barrels by lake.

MILWAUKEE—Oct. 29.—Receipts, 1,233 brls flour; 60,426 bu wheat; 815 bu oats; 1,120 bu barley; 230 bu rye. The Sentinel of this morning says:

"For receipts of wheat, last week, quite eclipses every previous one in the history of the grain trade of our city. The total receipts by railroad were 12,306 brls flour, and 384,620 bushels wheat, equivalent to 456,150 bushels, against 92,315 bushels for the corresponding week last year. The shipments for the week were 18,329 brls flour, and 394,578 bushels wheat, equivalent to 486,223 bushels, against 96,482 bushels for the same week in 1858.

WHEAT COMING IN.—The Kewanee (Henry Co.) Dial of the 27th says:—"A large number of wagons loaded with Wheat were in yesterday, mostly from Stark County. Advanced prices have stimulated both farmers and operators."

WINTER WHEAT.—The Henry Co. Dial says: "During a recent trip into the interior of the County we noticed several very fresh, thrifty looking fields of Winter Wheat, but we understand that but little has been sown in the country round about. The crop has become too precarious to offer much inducement to farmers to venture upon it; and the inducement is still less, as Spring Wheat turns out so well."

TOLEDO—Oct. 29.—Receipts, 17,000 bu wheat; 7,500 brls flour. The Blade says:—"The market to-day is entirely lifeless, not a single sale having been reported up to our hour of going to press."

PITTSBURGH—Oct. 28—FLOUR—Is advancing. The sales to-day were small, but an advance; 650 brls sold from store at $4.80@4.90 for Superfine, $5.12½@5.25 for Extra, $5.50@5.75 for Extra Family, and $6 for Fancy. GRAIN—Sales from store of 320 bu Red Wheat at $1.14; and 180 bu Oats at 45c; 400 do from depot at 40@42c.

HOPS.—The Cooperstown Journal says sales of several lots 'prime' have been made at 13@13½ a few "first sorts" at 15; and one lot, colored at 7c. There is not much disposition, on the part of growers in easy circumstances to part with first sorts at the present price. The London hop market is reported active for all new hops, with firm rates; the duty is now placed at £310,000 to £315,000.

PHILADELPHIA SEED MARKET.—Oct. 28.—In Seeds there is not much doing, but about 300 bushels of Cloverseed have been disposed at $5,50@5.70 ℔ bushel, as in quality. The Dealers are buying from wagons at our lowest figures. No change in Timothy or Flaxseed, and but little doing.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 28.—Flour quiet, with only a few sales in a retail way at our quotations. Wheat—Holders less firm and market more active. Sales two cars red at $1.15; two do on private terms; one car white at $1.24; four cars do at $1.25; one do at $1.26 and 1000 bush do from store at $1.26½c. ALBANY, Oct. 28.—In Flour there is but little doing; prices are without change. Buckwheat flour 16s 3d@16s 6d. Corn meal 16@17s for 100 lbs. Grain—The markets are very dull. The sales of Wheat are moderate at $1.25c for 1000 bu red State, and $1.44@1.48 for white Michigan in bags and bbls. Rye in the street 90c; small lots Canal sold at 85c. In Barley nothing of moment has been done; small lots of State four-rowed and winter sold at 82c and 80c respectively.

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—Fall Wheat—A supply of 10,000 bushels from farmers, and 2,000 bushels from the cars sold at prices ranging from $1.15 to $1.25 per bushel. Prices did not range so high as on other days during the week, though the average was but slightly lower. In one extreme case $1.27 was obtained. Quotations are: Prime $1.20@1.25; common $1.18@1.20; inferior $1.15@1.17. Spring Wheat—There was about 1,000 bushels brought in by farmers, and 1,200 bushels by cars. There is not a Savings Institution in our city based upon a safer principle, or that pays so large a percentage, as these Loan Fund Associations are paying. Their popularity and financial standing in the Eastern States, fully attest this assertion. 2d. It converts rent into capital by enabling those who will avail themselves of its benefits, to procure a homestead through a loan from the Association, the same being repaid by a small stated sum monthly, with interest, until the principal is returned, thus making the Association their landlord and knowing that each months payment goes toward making the property their own. Books for subscription to the stock are now open, and any information can be obtained by application to the Secretary, at the above office. oc30-a566-6m

CHICAGO.

THE WATERTOWN CASUALT[Y].

The city was startled about one o'clo[ck yes]terday afternoon with a report that the [mis]sion train south, on the Chicago & North[west]ern Railway had run off the track, near W[ater]town, and that thirty persons had been [killed] outright. The news traveled with the [speed] of the wind to all quarters, and the [news] and telegraph offices were straightw[ay be]sieged by anxious crowds who ex[pected] friends and acquaintances on the excu[rsion]. The location of the disaster being seven [miles] from a telegraph station, nothing defini[te was] known till last evening, when the disp[atches] which we print elsewhere came over [the] wires from Watertown. Though the [actu]al facts are all too melancholy, [it is] seen that the first report was great[ly ex]aggerated. The number of persons kno[wn to] be killed is eleven, and of those in[jured] twenty-eight. This is the first accident in[volv]ing the loss of life that has ever occurre[d on] the Chicago and Northwestern R. R., [and in] the present instance it is difficult to plac[e the] blame on any person or thing, unless upo[n the] brute that sprang suddenly from the bru[sh in] front of the locomotive. Signal men had [been] stationed at all the crossings between Osh[kosh] and Chicago to prevent accidents of just [this] sort.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

The Republican nominations for county [and] town officers, to be voted for on Tuesday [next], will be found in another column. We[ther or] not they will all be elected, as we believe [they] all deserve to be. Mr. Boyden, the no[minee] for County Treasurer, has demonstrated [his] fitness for the office by an unimpeach[able] record in his responsible trust for two y[ears] past; and it must be admitted, even by t[hose] who opposed his nomination, that he is o[ne of] the most popular and efficient young me[n in] the county. Mr. Eberhart, the candidat[e for] School Commissioner, owes his nominatio[n to] a general impression of his qualifications [as an] educator. He has never been prominent [as] a politician, and doubtless a majority of t[hose] who voted for him in convention, hear[d his] name for the first time in connection with [the] expressed wish of those interested in com[mon] schools that he might become the superin[ten]dent of public instruction for this county. [Mr.] Wolcott, the late City Surveyor, is so [well] known throughout the county that we [need] make no special allusion to the place he n[ow] occupies on the ticket.

But slight changes have been made in [the] tickets for town officers; and we need o[nly] refer to the management of the various aff[airs] in the hands of the gentlemen named, du[ring] the past year, as a guarantee of their faith[ful]ness, after they shall have been re-elected [on] Tuesday next.

A MISTAKE.

By a strange misapprehension of facts [the] Republican County Convention yesterday [de]cided to lay on the table an important me[mo]rial from its Central Committee in reference [to] the voting in times past of hordes of Ir[ish] Democrats at Republican primary electio[ns]. From the best information we can obtain, [we] infer that the Convention considered this [re]spectful and harmless memorial, (which [will] be found in our report of the proceedings[)] ...ting at their own purity. There is nothing [in] the document which warrants such constr[uc]tion, and the suspicion is wholly removed [by] the fact that the Central Committee direc[ted] one of its members to prepare the memo[rial] three weeks ago! The gentlemen who wa[re] indignant in the Convention yesterday h[ave] the satisfaction of knowing that they fired [at] cross purposes, and that their carelessness [has] deferred a much needed reform another y[ear]. Nevertheless we shall not fail to insist o[n a] change in the primary system, before both [the] city and county organizations, till it is pu[t in] force or the traces break.

OLD BROWN.

Naught remains but for the Charlesto[wn] Judge to pass three days sentence on J[ohn] Brown, and for the Sheriff to hang him [in] pursuance thereof—unless indeed, as is [inti]mated, Gov. Wise should so strain the ex[ecu]tive clemency as to add thirty days to his c[on]finement in prison and subtract it from [his] life beyond the grave. The jury have brou[ght] in a verdict of guilty on an uncertain num[ber] of counts, in which they convict him of s[everal] impossible crimes, which are adverted to w[ith] great clearness by Brown's counsel. The [spe]cise offences of which he is convicted see[m to] be treason against Virginia committed [in] Maryland, and the murder of one man in [two] different places, or something equivalen[t to] that.

The Provision Trade of Chicago—Prospects.

The Beef packers are now busy, and [they] have already killed upwards of 25,000 hea[d of] Cattle, with about half the season to opera[te] yet. It is expected that, before the [close], from 35,000 to 40,000 head will be packed.

During the past week, several of our [pork] packers have commenced operations; but [it is] only to supply a local demand for provisions [and] lard. The pork packing season will be [later] than usual, owing to the scarcity of corn [last] summer throughout this State, Indiana [and] Iowa.

From the preparations being made, how[ever], it is expected that our operations the co[ming] season will exceed those of any previous o[ne in] our history. At least, we have increased f[acili]ties for packing, which cannot fail to gr[eatly] augment the business. During the past [sum]mer, new packing houses have been bui[lt by] Messrs. Flint and Stearns, and Thos. Nash, [and] and Messrs. G. S. Hubbard & Co. have re[built] and enlarged their former packing house. [The] packing house of Flint & Stearns is capa[ble of] handling from 700 to 1000 hogs daily and [that] of Thos. Nash, 900 to 800 daily. These h[ouses] are fitted up in the most approved manne[r, and] will be worked by experienced pork-packe[rs].

Among the late accessions to our pork-[pack]ers, is Percival Marriott, lately from En[gland], who has leased the American Transpor[tation] Company's warehouse after the close of [navi]gation. The spaciousness of these pre[mises] will peculiarly adapt them for the pack[ing of] Dressed Hogs. An experienced corps of [work]men has been engaged, and the premise[s are] now being arranged with steam tanks, the [ice] house, &c. Mr. Marriott expects to pack [from] 300 hogs daily—principally on commissio[n].

Another late arrival from England i[s Mr.] James Bodel, who has leased the premi[ses on] North Water street, formerly occupied by [...] man & Co., and is fitting them up to [pack] Dressed Hogs.

The following is a list of the pork-p[ackers] who intend to operate the coming season:

|---|---|
| G. S. Hubbard & Co. | G. & J. Stewart. |
| R. M. & O. S. Hough. | Lount & Windsor. |
| Cragin & Co. | French & Co. |
| Van Brunt & Watrous. | Noyes & Co. |
| Andrew Brown & Co. | Morton & Stanfield. |
| Jones & Culbertson. | Carpenter & Co. |
| Thomas Nash. | Hayward & Co. |
| Flint & Stearns. | P. Marriott. |
| J. G. Law & Co. | James Bodel. |

There are a number of others who a[re in] search for suitable premises in which [to pack] hogs, who will doubtless be ready for [work] before the hogs begin to come in plen[ty. We are] ready we have capacity in this city to p[ack] 6,000 to 7,000 hogs daily. Last year w[e had to] send Dressed Hogs to Cincinnati an[d other] points to be packed; but we think tha[t with ad]ditional facilities we now possess will [prevent] such a possibility again.

We hear of no contracts for Hogs, no[r of] any disposition to make engagements [at pres]ent.
